Historical Pageant

The historical pageant, written and directed by Mrs. Lillian Mckelvey Judz, of Abbotstown, draws upon many of the events recorded in the "History of Abbotstown," recently published by Chairman Eisenhart, for dramatic scenes from the community's past.

The pageant will be given at 8:15 o'clock Friday and Saturday evenings on an outdoor stage on the public school grounds. Monday, August 31, is the rain date in case the performance cannot be given on either of the scheduled evenings.

The prologue to the pageant suggests the scene that might have met the eyes of an imaginary traveler as he stood on the Pigeon Hill more than 200 years ago and looked north—just as does Mr. Eisenhart in the introduction to his history.

In the first episode an Indian camping ground is portrayed, for there is evidence that while Indians did not live in this area in permanent villages there were Indian trails and camping spots.

Arrival of Abbe

The second episode depicts the arrival of John Abbe, "the builder," and his family on the banks of Beaver Creek.

Revolutionary War days are the theme for the third episode which reproduces a "sympathy" meeting held in Abbotstown for the exiles of Boston, then objects of oppression by the British. Money was raised at Abbotstown and sent to Boston. The second scene presents George Washington when he made a stop for a meal at Peter Ickes' hotel enroute back to Philadelphia after a trip into western Pennsylvania at the time (Continued on Page 3)

MRS. R. P. HILL GETS R.C. POST

Appointment of Mrs. Raymond P. Hill, 125 Carlisle St., as executive secretary of the Adams County Chapter of the American Red Cross, was approved Monday night at a meeting of the personnel committee, George L. Haenn, chapter chairman, announced today.

For three years she was supervisor of nurses in the Valley Baptist Hospital, in Harlingen, Texas. She has served in a nursing capacity in U. S. Army and veteran's hospitals, has been a public health nurse, and has served as a police nurse on Red Cross disaster nursing duty.

The new executive secretary will assume her duties on September 1 when Mrs. Maxwell D. Backler, who is presently employed in this position, will leave the city.

County Woman Wins "You Win"

Radio station WGET is boosting its Hooper rating and Gettysburg housewives have a modern method of getting real pin-money value on the popular "You Win" program.

Monday morning Mrs. John Klinefelter, Biglerville, joined the list of jackpot winners on the "You Win" program by giving the closest approximation to the number of joints a spider makes in a day's spinning. The correct answer (in case you didn't know) is 13,000. Mrs. Klinefelter won the prizes, valued at $89.95, by coming within 500.

WGET presents "You Win" at 10:05 o'clock every morning, Monday through Friday, in cooperation with many of the Gettysburg stores. One of the station's announcers calls an individual chosen from those who have registered at one of the stores displaying the "You Win" posters. The preliminary question usually has to do with the identification of a popular tune. If this is correctly answered, the person is eligible for the jackpot question.

Even if the jackpot question is missed contestants win a prize of one sort or another, a new hair-donking shears, etc. So everybody has fun and almost everybody wins.

Observance Of Bi-Centennial Anniversary Of Founding Of Abbotstown Opens On Friday

Thousands are expected in Abbotstown this weekend for the 200th anniversary and homecoming events that will open Friday evening and continue through Sunday.

Highlighting the weekend calendar of events are two presentations of the bi-centennial pageant, "At the Crossroads" Friday and Saturday evenings, the homecoming day events on Saturday, and the patriotic and commemorative program on Sunday.

A display of old pictures and souvenirs of Abbotstown of the last two centuries is expected to attract considerable attention in the basement of the Reformed Church.

William W. Eisenhart, native of Abbotstown, retired supervising principal of the Tyrone, Pa., schools and former president of the Adams County Historical Society, who is chairman of the committee for the celebration, said today that preparations are all but complete for the three-day events that will climax more than two years of planning.

The historical pageant, written and directed by Mrs. Lillian Mckelvey Judz, of Abbotstown, draws upon many of the events recorded in the "History of Abbotstown," recently published by Chairman Eisenhart, for dramatic scenes from the community's past.

"A Lot Of Nasty Little Thugs"

By The Associated Press

A 30-man U. N. Red Cross team returning today to Namsan from three weeks in North Korea said the only prisoners the members were allowed to interview about conditions were hand-picked by the Reds.

These prisoners had to talk in the presence of Chinese—and didn't utter one complaint, in contrast with harrowing accounts given by prisoners already released.

The head of the team, R. M. Jerram, of Cornwall, England, said it was a closely conducted tour under armed escort of "a lot of nasty little thugs" and added up to "general frustration."

CHANGE JAYCEE MEETING DATE

The Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet Wednesday evening, instead of Thursday evening, this week, officials of the club announced today.

The change in date was made to permit the membership to attend a meeting of the Delta Junior Chamber of Commerce in a state-wide "Pass the Gavel" program designed to introduce members of the various Jaycees groups throughout the state.

At the last meeting the Hanover Jaycees "passed the gavel" to Gettysburg. Wednesday night Gettysburg will "pass the gavel" to Delta. Points are given or the number of members present and the distance traveled. As a result officers asked a full attendance at Wednesday night's trip to Delta. Cars will leave from the fire engine house here at 8 o'clock. Members who need transportation are asked to call Donald Trone or Donald Becker.

Here's One Way Of Getting Two Cigars For Boy

After eleven years of waiting and at least three boxes of good cigars to celebrate the event, Postman Drud C. Deitch, Oak Ridge, was ready to concede that having a son named after him was almost impossible.

Monday's Times inadvertently announced the name of the new Deitch youngster as "David" instead of "Druid." Deitch, who came back to the Times office to complain, found the news staff puffing heartily on the cigars he had left earlier to celebrate the happy event.

As it turns out there is some grounds for confusion. David Deitch, Carlisle St., is Drud's twin brother. He's also connected with getting out the mail as the Railway mail clerk on the Harrisburg-Washington run. Drud's complaint, though, is that twin-brother David already has three sons.

The Drud Deitches have two daughters, Drusilla and Lucinda, in addition to cads pride and joy born at the Warner Hospital, Saturday. He can be correctly reached by mail if you address it to Drud Gregory Deitch, Oak Ridge.

Five years ago the Times also gave away Deitch's daughter, Lucinda, again to brother David. But amends have been made and the Times news staff is now on its second round of Deitch cigars.

35 PERSONS AT AUXILIARY MEET

Thirty-five members attended the regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Cashtown Community Fire Co. Monday evening when one new member, Mrs. Mildred Dunn, was added to the membership role.

Mrs. Bruce Wetzel, the president, presided and read a poem, "Beatitudes of a Housewife."

Group singing, with Mrs. Glenn Keller, pianist, opened the meeting. Devotions were led by Mrs. Kermit Deardorff, chaplain. Reports of the secretary and treasurer were approved.

It was decided to table a project for the purchase of a mixer. Plans were announced for a covered dish luncheon at the September meeting.

Vi Deardorff, chairman of the Entertainment committee, reviewed historical dates and events for the month of August and similar monthly reviews will be features of future meetings.

Refreshments were served and games played.

The next meeting will be held Monday evening, September 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phiel, York St., are vacationing in Wildwood, N. J.

CROSS-COUNTRY MEETING HELD BY SCHOOL BOARD

The Adams County School Board held a "cross country" meeting Monday evening in order to approve the Littlestown Joint system's plan to have its elementary school children attend school in two shifts each day.

Under the plan approved by the county board, the system will be permitted to have half the youngsters attend elementary grades in the morning, and then have the other half attend in the afternoons.

The measure is temporary and will last only until the new school building is completed at Littlestown sometime this winter, probably in January. When the schools open September 8 there will be far too many elementary students for all to be in class at the same time, County Superintendent of Schools J. Floyd Slaybaugh reported to the county board. As a result two complete sessions will be held each day in the school.

For the most part rural youngsters, riding the buses, will attend the morning sessions and then return home while the Littlestown borough youngsters will remain home in the morning and then attend school in the afternoon.

No Quorum

Slaybaugh explained that the two shifts a day system was imperative, and that approval by the county board was necessary before he and Littlestown Joint School Superintendent Paul King went to Harrisburg this week to seek approval by the state of the temporary plan for handling the overcrowded condition in the Littlestown schools. When the new school building is completed there will be room for all students, Slaybaugh explained.

In order to pass the motion Monday night it was necessary for a quorum of the county board to attend the meeting. At the scheduled meeting time, 8 o'clock, only one member of the board was present at the office of the superintendent in the Court House.

That member was Second Vice President M. S. Hershey of York Springs. A half hour later President Luther M. Laidy, Biglerville R. D., delayed by farm work, called to inquire whether he was too late for the meeting. He was told to come on in. Lloyd E. "Cousie" Littlestown, treasurer of the board, had already called to say he couldn't possibly get to the meeting. It was learned that Secretary J. Faber Wilgasm of Abbotstown was on vacation and couldn't be located. That left the board with only two members present, one short of a quorum. First Vice President Rome M. Martin, Biglerville, was called, and he said he couldn't get away from the peach packing operations being conducted at the Adam County Fruit Packing and Distributing Co.

Meet In Plant

To get the quorum needed and pass the motion, Hershey and Laidy traveled to Biglerville to locate Martin at the packing plant, and the meeting was then held in Martin's office at the packing plant.

While there the board also approved bills totaling $373.55 for the annual School Directors convention held at the South Mountain Fairgrounds, and, unofficially toured the packing plant to watch the peach packing operation.

PASTOR RESIGNS COUNTY CHARGE

The Rev. Alton M. Lester, Minister to the five congregations of the East Berlin Evangelical and Reformed Pastoral Charge, announced at a special, joint-consistory president's meeting at the church office Monday evening that he is presenting his resignation as pastor to the charge effective October 15. The resignation will be presented to a meeting of the joint-consistory to be held in the near future. Rev. Lester has received a call to serve as pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, Lehighton, Pa.

At Monday's meeting plans were completed for the annual farewell program for the retiring assistant to the minister to be conducted in conjunction with the family picnic to be held Wednesday evening at St. John Church, New Chester, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, sponsored by the joint women's organizations of the charge. Refreshments will be served.

South Korea Refuses To Have India At Peace Confab Unless Indians Sit With Communists

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (P)—A South Korean boycott of the Korean peace conference threatened the United Nations today. Syngman Rhee's representatives said they couldn't attend a parley with India present unless the Indians sit on the Communist side of the table.

Foreign Minister K. T. Prun and Col. Ben C. Limb, South Korea's permanent observer at the U. N., declared last night: "The Republic of Korea finds it impossible to cooperate with India on the same side."

"If India wants to sit on the Communist side, all right," added Prun. "We are not voting who will be at the peace conference. But we certainly can say whether we will be there, and we certainly may walk out or boycott the conference if the U. N. goes ahead."

Jet Crashes At 500 Miles

FRANKLIN, Va. (P)—An F84 Thunderjet fighter, lunging inexplicably out of control while rocketing along at better than 500 m.p.h., plunged into a woods near here yesterday and was smashed to smithereens.

Early today Air Force investigators still were sifting through the wreckage in an effort to identify the craft beyond any doubt as an F84 listed as missing from nearby Langley Air Force Base.

The missing Thunderjet took off from Langley, piloted by Lt. Walter P. Blagioni, 29, of Bridgeport, Conn., only 46 minutes before the crash.

R. H. RIDDLE IS FINED $150 ON CODE CHARGE

Raymond H. Riddle, 43, Park Ridge, Ill., was given a suspended sentence and fined $150 by the Adams County Court at noon today on a charge of failing to reveal his identity at the scene of an accident.

Riddle, a salesman and reserve officer in the U. S. Army, told the court he left the scene of an accident about two miles north of Gettysburg on May 8, "because of bad judgment." He said he had stopped for a hitchhiker and was struck in the rear by another car going north on the Biglerville Rd. Damage amounted to $75 to the car which struck him. Riddle's vehicle suffered $325 damage. Riddle left the scene immediately. State police, called to the scene, radioed ahead to Carlisle, where police stopped Riddle and charged him with failing to reveal his identity.

The Park Ridge, Ill., man had entered a plea of nolle prosequere (no defense) to the charge. He sat while receiving sentence. Enroute to enter his plea, he was shaving at a hotel in Carlisle, his attorney, J. Franklin Bigham, told the court, when a disc in his spine slipped, causing him to have difficulty in standing.

This afternoon a jury was considering its verdict in the drunken driving case against Harvey Miller, Biglerville R. 2, while Louis W. Metz, Orrtanna R. 1, was serving as his own attorney in a morals charge against him.

A jury this morning heard the drunken driving case against Miller, then was told at 11:45 that it should return at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon when Judge W. C. Sheely made the charge to the jury on the case. The jury went to the jury room to begin its deliberations about 1:30 o'clock.

The Metz case was called shortly before noon, in order that a jury could be drawn and it could begin promptly at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The county court offered to furnish an attorney for Metz, but he told the court he would serve as his own attorney.

Jury List

JURY RETURNS VERDICTS IN 2 PINBALL CASES

Robert D. Strausbaugh, McSherrystown restaurant proprietor, was found guilty of setting up and maintaining gambling devices by an Adams County jury Monday afternoon.

The jury heard the testimony of three McSherrystown youths that they had played the pinball machines in the restaurant and had been paid for the extra games and "features" which they scored on the machine. He also heard other boys state they had never known anyone to receive money for their winnings.

The jury spent 20 minutes in reaching its verdict. Strausbaugh did not testify. Dale W. Starry, Littlestown R. 2, was foreman for the jury.

This morning another jury found Raymond H. Smith, Hanover R. 4, innocent of a similar charge of setting up and maintaining gambling devices. He was ordered to pay the costs Smith, who operates a service station in McSherrystown, was accused of having pinball machines in his establishment similar to those at Strausbaugh's restaurant. He was also accused of "paying off" in cash for extra games, and "features" on the machines.

Court Adjourns

Testimony in the Smith case was heard by the jury Monday afternoon, and then the court adjourned for the day at 5 o'clock, instructing the jury to conduct its deliberations and make its decision this morning.

Paid In Cash

Principal witness against Smith was a 14-year-old McSherrystown boy, who said he had played the machines, and had been paid off for his winnings, usually, he said, by Harry Smith, father of Raymond Smith, who assists his son in the operation of the service station.

The youth had claimed that he and another boy had played together and won "200 games" for which they were paid $10. The other youth was called to the stand and said he knew nothing of the $10 payment and that "if it was made it must have been made while I was out of the place." He said he recalled that they had "run up 200 games" on the machine and said they had spent "about $2" to get that many games on the mechanism. He added that "it's worth that much to play it, you get a lot of amusement out of it. It takes a lot of skill in the way you shoot the ball. Lots of boys play."

As in the Strausbaugh case, a large number of character witnesses were called to the stand to testify to the "excellent character" of the defendant.

BITTERLY ATTACK INDIA

From earlier yesterday and bitterly attacked India before the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee as an appeaser of the Communists, "not only trafficking with the Communists but bringing with them to make the free world look contemptible."

His violent blast visibly rocked India's chief delegate, V. K. Krishna Menon.

The Indian may reply late today or tomorrow.

The committee scheduled two sessions of debate today, but 11 speakers—including British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd and Russia's Andrei V. Vishinskiy—were ahead of Menon.

County Woman Wins "You Win"

Radio station WGET is boosting its Hooper rating and Gettysburg housewives have a modern method of getting real pin-money value on the popular "You Win" program.

Monday morning Mrs. John Klinefelter, Biglerville, joined the list of jackpot winners on the "You Win" program by giving the closest approximation to the number of joints a spider makes in a day's spinning.

The correct answer (in case you didn't know) is 13,000. Mrs. Klinefelter won the prizes, valued at $89.95, by coming within 500.

WGET presents "You Win" at 10:05 o'clock every morning, Monday through Friday, in cooperation with many of the Gettysburg stores. One of the station's announcers calls an individual chosen from those who have registered at one of the stores displaying the "You Win" posters. The preliminary question usually has to do with the identification of a popular tune. If this is correctly answered, the person is eligible for the jackpot question.

Even if the jackpot question is missed contestants win a prize of one sort or another, a new hair-do, pinkie shears, etc. So everybody has fun and almost everybody wins.

Observance Of Bi-Centennial Anniversary Of Founding Of Abbottstown Opens On Friday

Thousands are expected in Abbottstown this weekend for the 200th anniversary and homecoming events that will open Friday evening and continue through Sunday.

Highlighting the weekend calendar of events are two presentations of the bicentennial pageant "At the Crossroads" Friday and Saturday evenings, the homecoming day events on Saturday, and the patriotic and commemorative program on Sunday.

A display of old pictures and souvenirs of Abbottstown of the last two centuries is expected to attract considerable attention in the basement of the Reformed Church.

Willis W. Eisenhart, native of Abbottstown, retired supervising principal of the Tyrone, Pa., schools and former president of the Adams County Historical Society, who is chairman of the committee for the celebration, said today that preparations are all but complete for the three-day events that will climax more than two years of planning.

The historical pageant, written and directed by Mrs. Lillian Micklejudtz of Abbottstown, draws upon many of the events recorded in the "History of Abbottstown," recently published by Chairman Eisenhart, for dramatic scenes from the community's past.

The pageant will be given at 8:15 o'clock Friday and Saturday evenings on an outdoor stage on the public school grounds. Monday, August 31, is the rain date in case the performance cannot be given on either of the scheduled evenings.

The prologue to the pageant suggests the scene that might have met the eyes of an imaginary traveler as he stood on the Pigeon Hills more than 200 years ago and looked north — just as does Mr. Eisenhart in the introduction to his history.

In the first episode an Indian camping ground is portrayed, for there is evidence that while Indians did not live in this area in permanent villages there were Indian trails and camping spots.

Arrival Of Abbebt

The second episode depicts the arrival of John Abbebt, "the builder," and his family on the banks of Beaver Creek.

Revolutionary War days are the theme for the third episode which reproduces a "sympathy" meeting held in Abbottstown for the citizens of Boston, then objects of oppression by the British. Money was raised at Abbottstown and sent to Boston. The second scene presents George Washington when he made a stop for a meal at Peter Ickes' hotel enroute back to Philadelphia after a trip into western Pennsylvania at the time

EX-CONVICT WHO SHOT CLERK GOT $98 FROM P.O.

Carroll Eugene Croy, 27-year-old ex-convict, arrested in the Columbia, Pa., post office after he shot and seriously wounded a postal clerk, paid an unexpected but profitable visit to Gettysburg before becoming involved in Columbia.

Croy came to Gettysburg Monday morning, cashed a $98 stolen money order at the local post office, and then quietly departed.

COLUMBIA, Pa. (AP)—A 27-year-old ex-convict is being held in jail here while state police and FBI agents question him in connection with last month's unsolved trucker murders on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The man, identified as Carroll Eugene Croy, 27, of Hamilton Square, N. J., was arrested in the post office here yesterday after a postal clerk was shot and seriously wounded during a struggle. Croy allegedly attempted to cash stolen money orders.

The turnpike angle arose when Police Chief Eugene McManus said Croy admitted owning a .32 caliber pistol and that he had been using the super-highway around the time of the slayings.

Had Rifle In Car
McManus said a search of the former prisoner's auto, parked near the post office in this Lancaster County community, uncovered a .22 caliber rifle. Police (Continued on Page 3)

Here's One Way Of Getting Two Cigars For Boy

After eleven years of waiting and at least three boxes of good cigars to celebrate the event, Postman Dr. C. Deitch, Oak Ridge, was ready to concede that having a son named after him was almost impossible.

Monday's Times inadvertently announced the name of the new Deitch youngster as "David" instead of "Druid." Deitch, who came back to the Times office to complain, found the news staff puffing heartily on the cigars he had left earlier to celebrate the happy event.

As it turns out there is some grounds for confusion. David Deitch, Carlisle St., is Druid's twin brother. He's also connected with getting out the mail as the Railway mail clerk on the Harrisburg-Washington run. Druid's complaint, though, is that twin-brother David already has three sons.

The Druid Deitches have two daughters, Drusilla and Lucinda, in addition to dad's pride and joy born at the Warner Hospital, Saturday. He can be correctly reached by mail if you address it to Druid Gregory Deitch, Oak Ridge.

Five years ago the Times also gave away Deitch's daughter, Lucinda, again to brother David. But amends have been made and the Times news staff is now on its second round of Deitch cigars.

Druid Deitch, chairman of the Entertainment committee, reviewed historical dates and events for the month of August and similar monthly reviews will be features of future meetings.

Refreshments were served and games played.

The next meeting will be held Monday evening, September 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phil, York St., are vacationing in Wildwood, N. J.

CROSS-COUNTRY MEETING HELD BY SCHOOL BOARD

The Adams County School Board held a "cross country" meeting Monday evening in order to approve the Littlestown Joint system's plan to have its elementary school children attend school in two shifts each day.

Under the plan approved by the county board, the system will be permitted to have half the youngsters attend elementary grades in the morning, and then have the other half attend in the afternoons.

The measure is temporary and will last only until the new school building is completed at Littlestown sometime this winter, probably in January. When the schools open September 8 there will be far too many elementary students for all to be in class at the same time, County Superintendent of Schools J. Floyd Slaybaugh reported to the county board.

As a result two complete sessions will be held each day in the school. For the most part rural youngsters, riding the buses, will attend the morning sessions and then return home while the Littlestown borough youngsters will remain home in the morning and then attend school in the afternoon.

No Quorum

Slaybaugh explained that the two shifts a day system was imperative, and that approval by the county board was necessary before he and Littlestown Joint School Supervising Principal Paul King went to Harrisburg this week to seek approval by the state of the temporary plan for handling the overcrowded condition in the Littlestown schools. When the new school building is completed there will be room for all students, Slaybaugh explained.

In order to pass the motion Monday night it was necessary for a quorum of the county board to attend the meeting. At the scheduled meeting time, 8 o'clock, only one member of the board was present at the office of the superintendent in the Court House.

That member was Second Vice President M. S. Hershey of York Springs. A half hour later President Luther M. Lady, Biglerville R. 2, delayed by farm work, called to inquire whether he was too late for the meeting. He was told to come on in. Lloyd E. Crouse, Littlestown, treasurer of the board, had already called to say he couldn't possibly get to the meeting.

It was learned that Secretary J. Faber Wildasin of Abbottstown was on vacation and couldn't be located. That left the board with only two members present, one short of a quorum. First Vice President Rowe M. Martin, Biglerville, was called, and he said he couldn't get away from the peach packing operations being conducted at the Adam County Fruit Packing and Distributing Co.

Meet In Plant

To get the quorum needed and pass the motion, Hershey and Lady traveled to Biglerville to locate Martin at the packing plant, and the meeting was then held in Martin's office at the packing plant.

While there the board also approved bills totaling $373.55 for the annual School Directors convention picnic held at the South Mountain Fairgrounds, and, unofficially toured the packing plant to watch the peach packing operation.

PASTOR RESIGNS COUNTY CHARGE

The Rev. Alton M. Leister, Minister to the five congregations of the East Berlin Evangelical and Reformed Pastoral Charge, announced at a special joint-consistory president's meeting at the church office Monday evening that he is presenting his resignation as pastor to the charge effective October 15.

The resignation will be presented to a meeting of the joint-consistory to be held in the near future. Rev. Leister has received a call to serve as pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, Lehighton, Pa.

At Monday's meeting plans were completed for the annual farewell program for the retiring assistant to the minister to be conducted in conjunction with the family picnic to be held Wednesday evening at St. John Church, New Chester, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, sponsored by the joint women's organizations of the charge. Refreshments will be served.

The assistant, Stewart H. Bortner, of Codorus, and Mrs. Bortner will return to their apartment at the theological seminary in Lancaster next Monday. The new assistant will begin his duties September 6.

Jet Crashes At 500 Miles

FRANKLIN, Va. (AP)—An F84 Thunderjet fighter, lunging inexplicably out of control while rocketing along at better than 500 m.p.h., plunged into a woods near here yesterday and was smashed to smithereens.

Early today Air Force investigators still were sifting through the wreckage in an effort to identify the craft beyond any doubt as an F84 listed as missing from nearby Langley Air Force Base.

The missing Thunderjet took off from Langley, piloted by Lt. Walter P. Biagioni, 29, of Bridgeport, Conn., only 46 minutes before the crash.

R. H. RIDDLE IS FINED $150 ON CODE CHARGE

Raymond H. Riddle, 43, Park Ridge, Ill., was given a suspended sentence and fined $150 by the Adams County Court at noon today on a charge of failing to reveal his identity at the scene of an accident.

Riddle, a salesman and reserve officer in the U. S. Army, told the court he left the scene of an accident about two miles north of Gettysburg on May 8, "because of bad judgment." He said he had stopped for a hitchhiker and was struck in the rear by another car going north on the Biglerville Rd. Damage amounted to $75 to the car which struck him. Riddle's vehicle suffered $325 damage. Riddle left the scene immediately. State police, called to the scene, radioed ahead to Carlisle, where police stopped Riddle and charged him with failing to reveal his identity.

The Park Ridge, Ill., man had entered a plea of nolle contendere (no defense) to the charge. He sat while receiving sentence. Enroute here to enter his plea, he was shaving at a hotel in Carlisle, his attorney, J. Franklin Bigham, told the court, when a disc in his spine slipped, causing him to have difficulty in standing.

This afternoon a jury was considering its verdict in the drunken driving case against Harry Miller, Biglerville R. 2, while Louis W. Metz, Orrtanna R. 1, was serving as his own attorney in a morals charge against him.

A jury this morning heard the drunken driving case against Miller, then was told at 11:45 that it should return at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon when Judge W. C. Sheely made the charge to the jury on the case. The jury went to the jury room to begin its deliberations about 1:30 o'clock.

The Metz case was called shortly before noon, in order that a jury could be drawn and it could begin promptly at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The county court offered to furnish an attorney for Metz, but he told the court he would serve as his own attorney.

Pym earlier yesterday had bitterly attacked India before the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee as an appeaser of the Communists, "not only trafficking with the Communists but intriguing with them to make the free world look contemptible."

His violent blast visibly rocked India's chief delegate, V. K. Krishna Menon.

The Indian may reply late today or tomorrow.

The committee scheduled two sessions of debate today, but 11 speakers—including British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd and Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky—were ahead of Menon.

REDS CLAIM 400 PRISONERS ASK COMMY RULE

PANMUNJOM, N. — Another 136 Americans and 264 other U. N. prisoners of war streamed back to freedom today but the Reds said 400 of the POWs still in stockades may not come back because they have chosen Communist rule.

Allied sources confirmed that the Red statement was handed over at a meeting of the Prisoner Repatriation Committee in Panmunjom last night. There was no word of a breakdown of nationalities among the 400.

Today's release of 9 American officers and 127 enlisted men boosted to nearly 2,000 the number of Americans liberated in three weeks of the prisoner exchange.

Free 133 Wednesday

One hundred and thirty-three more will be freed tomorrow. Many Americans repatriated earlier have told of some fellow captives who have elected to remain behind, either because they had turned informer and feared retaliation or had swallowed Communist propaganda.

In sharp contrast to Communist prisoners moving northward, today's liberated Americans came back quietly. A few shouted jubilantly, but most were silent, simply happy to return from bleak North Korean camps. They appeared in good health.

Communist prisoners delivered by the U. N. Command continued their violent demonstrations. Their return was interrupted three times when North Koreans spat in the faces of two Allied officers.

Free 2 Dutchmen

Beside the 136 Americans, the Reds Tuesday handed over 250 South Koreans, 8 Canadians, 3 Australians, 2 Dutch and 1 Greek.

The return of the Dutch soldiers was a surprise. The Reds had claimed they didn't hold any prisoners of that nationality. Delivery of eight Canadians raised to 24 the number returned, six more than the Communists had said they would give back.

The Reds gave no explanation for the additional returnees.

The nine American officers—all infantry or field artillery—returned today were of low rank and there was no indication when the Communists would hand over top Allied officers held captive.

The Reds promised to deliver Wednesday another 400 prisoners—133 Americans, 17 British and 250 South Koreans.

REDS CLAIM 400 PRISONERS ASK COMMY RULE

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Another 136 Americans and 264 other U. N. prisoners of war streamed back to freedom today but the Reds said 400 of the POWs still in stockades may not come back because they have chosen Communist rule.

Allied sources confirmed that the Red statement was handed over at a meeting of the Prisoner Repatriation Committee in Panmunjom last night. There was no word of a breakdown of nationalities among the 400.

Today's release of 9 American officers and 127 enlisted men boosted to nearly 2,000 the number of Americans liberated in three weeks of the prisoner exchange.

Free 133 Wednesday

One hundred and thirty-three more will be freed tomorrow.

Many Americans repatriated earlier have told of some fellow captives who have elected to remain behind, either because they had turned informer and feared retaliation or had swallowed Communist propaganda.

In sharp contrast to Communist prisoners moving northward, today's liberated Americans came back quietly. A few shouted jubilantly, but most were silent, simply happy to return from bleak North Korean camps. They appeared in good health.

Communist prisoners delivered by the U. N. Command continued their violent demonstrations. Their return was interrupted three times when North Koreans spat in the faces of two Allied officers.

Free 2 Dutchmen

Beside the 136 Americans, the Reds Tuesday handed over 250 South Koreans, 8 Canadians, 3 Australians, 2 Dutch and 1 Greek.

The return of the Dutch soldiers was a surprise. The Reds had claimed they didn't hold any prisoners of that nationality. Delivery of eight Canadians raised to 24 the number returned, six more than the Communists had said they would give back.

The Reds gave no explanation for the additional returns.

The nine American officers—all infantry or field artillery—returned today were of low rank and there was no indication when the Communists would hand over top Allied officers held captive.

The Reds promised to deliver Wednesday another 400 prisoners—133 Americans, 17 British and 250 South Koreans.

President Weaver said the dates for the combined firemen's carnival and commemorative program have been set tentatively as June 29 through July 4. The annual parade will be held July 3 and the closing program will be held Sunday, July 4.

WOMEN REPORT SUFFRAGE GAIN IN PAST 25 YRS.

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Inter-American Commission of Women, meeting at Asuncion, Paraguay, Sept. 5 to 24, may consider with pride the progress of women in the Americas since its creation 25 years ago.

Formed at the Sixth International Conference of American States at Havana, Cuba, to "work for the extension of civil, political, economic and social rights of the women of the 21 American Republics," the commission is an official unit of the Organization of American States (OAS), with headquarters in Washington. The group is composed of one delegate appointed by the government of each republic, with a chairman, vice chairman and executive committee elected by the entire commission from its own number.

Suffrage Extended

When the commission was created in 1928 only the United States had national suffrage for women. In 1948 the group secured approval of a treaty which agrees "the right to vote and to be elected to national office shall not be denied or abridged by reason of sex." The treaty was signed by 16 countries and 14 have ratified it. Two others are in process of doing so. In three others women vote in city elections.

Earn Other Rights

Other achievements include: The number of women elected to national Congresses and to state and municipal offices is today larger than ever before.

Women have the "same legal rights as man to exercise a profession" in many countries, overcoming many legal barriers existing in 1928.

A treaty agreeing "there shall be no distinction based on sex as regards nationality either in legislation nor in practice" was signed by 20 countries in 1933 and has been ratified by 10.

Laws equalizing other civil rights of women with those of men have been approved or are being considered by a number of countries.

Another convention that agrees to grant women the same civil rights that men enjoy was signed by 20 nations and is now in the process of ratification.

For the past year the commission has conducted an intensive campaign to get full suffrage in seven Latin American countries. In Columbia, Paraguay, Honduras and Nicaragua women cannot vote at all.

VIRGINIA BOY DAMAGES CAR

Borough police, who brought the charge against Lebbues Hunter Beazley Jr., Chester Va., before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehor, said Beazley was driving south on Baltimore St. and smashed into the rear of a car driven by John H. Loose, 25, of Blair, York County.

Loose was at the end of a string of cars stopped by the traffic light at High and Baltimore Sts. Beazley, police said they were told by him, came across the intersection between Middle and Baltimore and was "looking about a bit." When he looked back he was "on top" of the car halted ahead of him. Damage was confined mostly to the front end and radiator of the Confederate flag flying Beazley car. Police estimated the Virginia car damage at $150. Damage to Loose's car was put at $10.

The accident, which brought a large crowd of jurymen and others at the court house to the scene, led to a common remark among the by-standers, when they saw the Confederate flag on the most damaged car: "Thought the rebels learned 90 years ago they shouldn't tangle with Yankees at Gettysburg."

"ROCK-BOUND COAST"

I love to stand on a rock-bound coast... as the waves break on the shore... and the salty spray washes away... as it leaves the ocean's floor... I delight to look at the sailing boats... like a flock of swan-like birds... as they glide along when the wind is strong... beautiful beyond mere words... and I feel a thrill that enraptures my heart... when the seagulls skim the swell... while around my feet making things complete... rests a rainbow-colored shell... and as I gaze at the rock-bound coast... beautiful framework for the ocean... I am captured by what confronts my eye... as I drink its wondrous potion.

FREE ONE OF 2 WHO SURVIVED "DEATH MARCH"

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea — One of only two Americans who survived a 300-man death march under North Korean Reds was freed by the Communists today. He is Cpl. Almer Mickleberg, 27, of Philadelphia.

Mickleberg was captured July 22, 1950, while fighting with the 5th Regiment of the 1st Cavalry Division. He was taken to Seoul after his capture.

"We were almost liberated there," he said. "They took us to Pyongyang the night before the Marines captured the city."

From the North Korean capital, 300 prisoners began marching north to Mampo. He said three men made it, one, "a Marine" who was captured at Seoul, died the day we got there.

Outside of Pyongyang the Americans were herded into a tunnel. Find Bodies Of Yanks

"The rest of us heard machine-guns and buzz guns," Mickleberg said. "We were hustled onto a flat car and moved on north a ways."

When American forces pushed north of Pyongyang in October, 1950, they found the bodies of a large group of American prisoners who had been machine-gunned by their captors.

The remaining 150 "dropped out fast," Mickleberg said. "There were only three of us left when we reached Mampo. The Koreans had taken away our shoes and some of our clothes. The men died of hunger and cold."

Mickleberg was a prisoner under both the North Koreans and the Chinese. Asked to describe any difference in treatment, he replied:

"North Koreans mistreated you physically. The Chinese mistreated you mentally."

CIO Phone Walkout Disrupts Service

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A walkout by some 1,100 operators and maintenance personnel of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. disrupted long distance telephone service here yesterday.

Frances Booth, secretary-treasurer of Local 2552, CIO-Communications Workers of America, said the workers attended a meeting where they were briefed on progress of contract negotiations in New York. The contract expired July 5 and has been continued on a day-to-day basis while the company and union argue over a wage increase and other benefits.

A company spokesman said the workers here left their jobs without notice to the company. Most of the long distance calls were handled by local Bell Telephone Co. employees and A. T. & T. supervisory personnel.

"Some delays" were reported. If you want a stew to make a hit, season it with Worcestershire sauce and chili powder will give it real tang.

of the Whiskey Rebellion. The "little red school house" is the theme of the fourth episode and is dated about the time of Thaddeus Stevens and the public school law. Prof. Thoman's Normal School in Abbotstown is presented in a second scene.

Civil War Days
"If a House Be Divided" is the theme of the fifth episode and concerns Civil War days in Abbotstown. A country store scene where the causes of the North and of the South are being debated by town folk. In it George W. Baker, 81-year-old member of the committee, will impersonate John W. Wolf, a staunch defender of the Union cause and recruiter for the Northern Army.

The second scene of that episode re-enacts the story of General Gordon who paused to exchange words with George Jordy in Abbotstown as the Confederate officer journeyed toward York.

"The Conquest of Time and Distance" is the title given Episode 6. It goes back to 1875 and the founding of the Berlin Branch Railroad. The second scene shows a crowd gathering at the railroad station for a trip by rail to picnic grounds near East Berlin and the arrival of the first train in Abbotstown.

Two Town Landmarks
Two town landmarks are the center of interest in the seventh episode. One scene is at the town fountain and the other is at the Columbus Tree, planted in 1893 on Columbus Day. Mr. Eisenhart was one of those who helped plant the sapling 60 years ago.

The churches of the community form the theme for the eighth episode, titled "We Gather Together." In the first scene the Lutherans are depicted paying their annual rental in peppercorn to the heirs of John Abbott. An early marriage takes place in the Reformed Church in the second scene. A Brethren love feast is presented next and the fourth is devoted to the Catholics of the community.

In the ninth episode there are several scenes that portray Abbotstown as it is today with members of the armed services, the youth association, the drum and bugle corps and the Boy Scouts taking part.

The entire cast of about 200 will take part in the finale. Friday's opening ceremony will be signalled by the sounding of the fire siren and the ringing of church bells at 6:30 o'clock.

Program in Square
The ceremonies will be held in the square with Chairman Eisenhart presiding and a flag raising ceremony opening the program. There will be group singing and Judge W. C. Sweeney of Gettysburg will deliver the address. The program will close in time to allow the crowd to move to the school grounds for the first presentation of the pageant.

Saturday will be Homecoming Day and George W. Baker is in charge of the days events. Registration is scheduled for the morning along with the inspection of the historical exhibits.

The program will begin at 1:30 p.m. and is intended to honor John Abbott and his descendants. John Abbott Walls, a direct descendant of the town's founder will be the first speaker. Mr. Walls who is from Baltimore, is a former president of the Pennsylvania Water and Power Company, serving in that capacity until 1951, and since that time has been a consulting engineer with the same firm. He is a member of the 6th generation of Abbott's family.

Dr. Harbold To Speak
The second will be Dr. P. M. Harbold, Lancaster, once superintendent of schools there and former member of the faculty at Millersville State Teacher's College and the Franklin and Marshall College at Lancaster. He will speak for the graduates of Prof. Thoman's Normal School that once existed at Abbotstown.

Graduates of the now non-existent high school at Abbotstown will have Dr. Harry W. Gross, a district superintendent of schools in Valley Stream, N. Y., as their spokesman. The final event on Saturday's program will be the second presentation of the pageant at 8:15 p.m.

Sunday's program will take place at 7 p.m. on the school grounds. There will be an "ancestral commemoration hour" in which preachers and priests of the community will take part and Mr. Eisenhart will speak on ancestors in the community.

One interested spectator of the weekend events will be Mrs. Gilbert Ziegler, only direct descendant of John Abbott now living in the town that bears his name.

Unhappy Waistlines

NEW YORK (AP)—Do you eat too much? The chances are that you aren't getting enough out of life.

So says Dr. Alfred Blazer in a new book, "What's Your Problem?" (Citadel Press).

People who overeat "may have feelings of inferiority and their relationships with other people may give them very little satisfaction," writes Dr. Blazer.

"They don't relate to others in a way that makes them happy with themselves. They do not receive warmth and appreciation to a needed degree, nor are they able to offer it in return."

Such persons experience a temporary inner peace when on an eating binge, he says, but the eating is nervous and the comforting mood doesn't last long.

Why does this happen? Because the first pleasures in life are associated with feeding. The baby who is filled feels comforted and his tensions are gone.

"Such people may go through the agony of endless dieting and take all sorts of medication," says Dr. Blazer. "Their weight goes down; then their need for comforting through food reasserts itself and their weight goes up; they're back where they started."

Lack Of Counsel Delays Red Trial

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The formal arraignment of nine alleged Communist party leaders has been delayed again because the accused men have been unable to obtain counsel.

Arraignment of the men on charges of conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force was scheduled for yesterday before U. S. District Judge Allan K. Grim.

However, Atty. Joseph Sharfman, one of three Philadelphia attorneys appointed two weeks ago by the Philadelphia Bar Assn., told the court the defendants have been unable to obtain counsel to represent them at their arraignment since their arrest July 30. Sharfman appeared only to argue for reduction in bail.

Reopen Inquest In Slaying Of Three

QUEBEC (AP)—A coroner's inquest into the slaying of three Pennsylvania hunters in the Gaspé wilderness will be reopened Thursday.

The principal witness, 37-year-old prospector Wilbert Coffin, left here yesterday in the custody of provincial police for the hearings.

Coffin has been in police custody for several weeks as a material witness in the deaths of Eugene H. Lindsey, 47; his son, Richard, 17, north of Hollidaysburg, Pa., and Fred Clair, 20, of East Freedom, Pa.

The three disappeared during a bear-hunting trip early in June. Their bear-ravaged remains were found in mid-July.

vent, to Crov's New Jersey home to pick up the pistol for tests.

Meanwhile, the victim in yesterday's shooting episode, William Sample, 52, was in Columbia Hospital in serious condition. A bullet struck him in the chest and went out his back.

McManus gave this account of the incident:

Crov attempted to cash some money orders in the Columbia Post Office but Sample recognized them as part of those stolen two weeks ago from a Yonkers, N. Y., post office.

Attacks Clerk
He told Crov he was going to get the money out of the safe, but went instead to the postmaster's office, telephoned police, took a gun and walked into the lobby.

The postal clerk told Crov to surrender but instead the ex-convict jumped at him and both fell to the floor. The gun went off in the struggle.

Policeman Jesse Hollingswood arrived moments later and subdued Crov.

McManus said Crov had served 3½ years in the Iowa penitentiary for robbery. He is being held in the borough jail here pending arraignment before a U. S. commissioner.

STATE EXPECTS BIGGEST CROP OF FIRST GRADERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's elementary school teachers will welcome the biggest crop of first graders in the commonwealth's history when school begins next month.

Dr. Carl D. Mornesweck, chief of the Child Accounting and Research Bureau of the Department of Public Instruction, said today some 245,450 youngsters will enroll in the first grade of public and private schools about the state. Last year there were 220,800 in all schools.

At the same time Mornesweck said there would be an increase in total enrollment in public schools of about 63,000 over the 1952 enrollment of 1,668,800.

On hand to greet the pupils will be some 60,000 teachers.

"The schools will be crowded," Mornesweck said, "but they have been crowded before." He cited the period of 1925-29 as one in which crowding was heaviest. Those years averaged over 2 million pupils enrolled in public schools.

"The record set this year by the first grade pupils probably will stand for some years to come," Mornesweck added. "Our statistics based on the birth rate in the state show there will be a drop in the next school year of about 7 per cent. It will continue to drop for the next few school years."

Mornesweck said, however, that in 1958 the department expected the first grade enrollment to jump back nearly to this year's record high.

Such persons experience a temporary inner peace when on an eating binge, he says, but the eating is nervous and the comforting mood doesn't last long.

Why does this happen? Because the first pleasures in life are associated with feeding. The baby who is filled feels comforted and his tensions are gone.

"Such people may go through the agony of endless dieting and take all sorts of medication," says Dr. Blazer. "Their weight goes down; then their need for comforting through food reasserts itself and their weight goes up; they're back where they started."

Lack Of Counsel Delays Red Trial
PHILADELPHIA (P)—The formal arraignment of nine alleged Communist party leaders has been delayed again because the accused men have been unable to obtain counsel.

Arraignment of the men on charges of conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force was scheduled for yesterday before U. S. District Judge Allan K. Grim.

However, Atty. Joseph Sharfstein, one of three Philadelphia attorneys appointed two weeks ago by the Philadelphia Bar Assn., told the court the defendants have been unable to obtain counsel to represent them at their arraignment since their arrest July 30. Sharfstein appeared only to argue for reduction in bail.

Reopen Inquest In Slaying Of Three

QUEBEC (P) — A coroner's inquest into the slaying of three Pennsylvania hunters in the Gaspe wilderness will be reopened Thursday.

The principal witness, 37-year-old prospector Wilbert Coffin, left here yesterday in the custody of provincial police for the hearings.

Coffin has been in police custody for several weeks as a material witness in the deaths of Eugene H. Lindsey, 47; his son, Richard, 17, both of Hollidaysburg, Pa., and Fred Claar, 20, of East Freedom, Pa.

The three disappeared during a bear-hunting trip early in June. Their bear-ravaged remains were found in mid-July.

EX-CONVICT WHO

went to Croy's New Jersey home to pick up the pistol for tests.

Meanwhile, the victim in yesterday's shooting episode, William Sample, 52, was in Columbia Hospital in serious condition. A bullet struck him in the chest and went out his back.

McManus gave this account of the incident:

Croy attempted to cash some money orders in the Columbia Post Office but Sample recognized them as part of those stolen two weeks ago from a Yardville, N. J., post office.

Attacks Clerk

He told Croy he was going to get the money out of the safe, but went instead to the postmaster's office, telephoned police, took a gun and walked into the lobby.

The postal clerk told Croy to surrender but instead the ex-convict jumped at him and both fell to the floor. The gun went off in the struggle.

Policeman Jessel Hollingswood arrived moments later and subdued Croy.

McManus said Croy had served 8½ years in the Iowa penitentiary for robbery. He is being held in the borough jail here pending arraignment before a U. S. commissioner.

Today's Talk
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
TO BE MISSED

When a person has contributed something to our happiness, and is suddenly lost to us through death, something of us goes with him. I once came across a statement that when a visitor leaves Hawaii he himself dies a little. I think that there is some truth in this statement for I have experienced it. Likewise, it applies to people.

The very structure of our personality is the result of many contributions by our friends, and by those whose love and sacrifices have left an influence that never leaves us, so that we sorely miss them when they no longer are ours in the flesh. Something in us all dies a little with the loss of our beloved ones.

I recall when the news was flashed to my summer lodge in Nova Scotia, that Will Rogers had been killed in a plane accident. It seemed unbelievable. A queer sadness settled upon thousands who had never even seen him, many knowing of him only through his radio and newspaper talks and his parts in the movies. But his character was so genuine that it had taken hold upon millions. No matter how fast the years go by, Will Rogers is missed.

Those near and dear to us in life are most missed in death, but there is a natural kinship that we never lose that has been ours with a friend. That one is missed before leaving for my summer vacation at the last luncheon given by what is known as the Dutch Treat Club in New York City. I looked over the dining room and six names of friends came to my mind—all recently gone from life in early manhood. I could not help but feel that something of this delightful club had died with them.

There is something finely precious about being missed, though the missed ones may never know. We scent its meaning, however. And we are nourished spiritually by the fact.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "On Being Missed."

NEED ENERGY AND PATIENCE TO REJUVENATE YOUR FURNITURE

By VIVIAN BROWN
The Associated Press

A GOOD FACIAL can turn a dusty, grumpy piece of furniture into a thing of beauty.

If the wood is good — walnut, mahogany, rose-wood, fruit wood, pine — you can enhance its loveliness with a good refinishing job. All you need is energy and perseverance. The time spent will be worth the effort, and in less time than you can visit a furniture store, you will have an attractive article.

So dig into the attic or cellar for that little rosewood table or walnut wash stand or mahogany chest that Grandpa stuck in the corner. See if you can't make it prettier than anything you've seen at the country auction.

HERE'S HOW according to experts of the Johnson Consumer Education Department:

Remove all old coatings — wax, polish or paint. Start with a generous application of paint or varnish remover, brushing it on, and allowing it to stand until the finish is softened and begins to crackle. Then scrape off the softened varnish or paint with a putty knife while still wet, being careful not to gouge the wood. If the surface looks spotty, repeat both remover and scraper process.

You are now ready to wash your furniture with denatured alcohol or prepared cleaner. Use a dripping rag to clean off the remover. Wipe immediately with a dry rag.

SANDPAPER with two grades of paper. Start with 3-0 and follow with a 4-0 or 5-0 until the surface is smooth. Then proceed as follows using the following: 1-2 pt. 4 lb. cut white shellac diluted with 1-2 pt. denatured alcohol. 1" to 1½" bristle brush to apply shellac. 1 pad 000 steel wool. Denatured alcohol to clean the brush, paste wax (about 2 oz.).

Apply a light coat of shellac, doing as little brushing as possible. Try to cover the surface quickly and evenly because shellac begins to set very soon after application. Clean the brush with denatured alcohol immediately after using it. Let it dry overnight. Work paste wax into steel wool pad and apply it with the grain, rubbing just enough to remove any unevenness. Do not bear down too hard. You can feel with your fingertips when the surface is smooth. Wipe off the excess wax, and polish the surface immediately, using a clean, dry cloth. Apply a second coat of paste wax with the cloth used for wiping off excess wax. Work one section of the piece of furniture at a time, polishing with a dry cloth while the wax is still moist.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The finest finish you can achieve on a good piece of furniture involves doing seven coats of shellac and seven sandings. It gives a fine lustrous hard finish. To remove the too-shiny effect mix rottenstone with linseed oil, apply to piece with a blackboard eraser, then remove. Apply paste wax the next day. This is hard work but well worth it.

To make sanding easier, you can find little rubber sanding blocks in which you can insert your sandpaper. Sand a paper for final finishing such as the super fine grade of black waterproof sandpaper gives smooth results.

YOUNG FARMER'S

Clubs in Australia celebrate their 25th anniversary this year. To help commemorate this occasion, the Australian Postal Department will issue a special 3½ cent bi-colored stamp on Sept. 3.

Postmaster — General Robert L. Anthony said that clubs of this kind were in existence more than a quarter of a century ago but they were not organized on a national basis until 1928. The first state organization was established July 20, 1928 in New South Wales. Just over the federal state border became associated in an Australian Council of Young Farmers.

The new stamp will be the first Australian-colored commemorative ever issued. The design shows a young boy and a girl with a calf.

The date of issue of the Young Farmer's stamp coincides with the opening day of a philatelic exhibition in the Town Hall at Brighton, Victoria.

It is interesting to note that the U. S. has scheduled a new commemorative honoring the Future Farmers of America in October.

TO HONOR
The 25th anniversary of Frankfurter-Ocean, the Eastern Zone of Germany has issued a set of four 10-cent stamps, reports the New York Stamp Co. The set was first issued by Frankfurter-Ocean in the 19th century. In 1925 it was made a town by the Margrave John I. Portured on the stamps is a portrait of Heinrich von Kiliest, a boat in the river and two views of churches in the city.

355 Polio Cases In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG P. — The State Health Department today reported 355 listed polio cases in Pennsylvania so far this year. The total is 13 more than for the same period of 1952, the Keystone State's worst polio year since 1916.

Dr. James D. Purvis of the department's Health Conservation Bureau, named Tusculum, Crawford County, as the hardest hit by the disease this season. He said 11 cases have been reported. Tusculum's population is 8,923.

"Five counties have already used up their allotments of gamma globulin and have resorted to state reserves," Dr. Purvis pointed out. He named these counties as Carbon, Clarion, Mercer, Monroe and Tioga.

Mercer leads the five caught short with 20 cases. This is compared to the state high of 49 in Allegheny County where there is no shortage of gamma globulin.

Yesterday Mercer County recorded its fourth polio-attributed death of the year.

Witnesses testify
A number of witnesses including Wayne Reedy, Frank Weaver, and Bruce Witter, all of Huntersdown; Russell Sterner, Ottumwa and Sgt. Joseph Temple of the local state police took the stand to testify to what happened in Huntersdown Sunday afternoon, July 26. Their testimony added up to a story that Harvey Miller had come to town, had some difficulty in parking his car in a driveway, went to the store there, got into a fight with "Dick" Brown, drank a number of bottles of beer, smashed beer bottles on the highway, kicked and fought when police attempted to put him into the police car.

Miller admitted to nearly all of the story on the stand, but said he was sober when he drove his car. He had three bottles of beer to drink before he left an inn near Emmusburg, but "that didn't affect me," he said.

Punished In Fight
He said he got into a fight with Brown outside the store in Huntersdown, adding that "I wouldn't say 'anybody won the fight.' He was bloody about the face, policeman said, when they arrived, had two black eyes, and a number of bruise burns. Like he had been dragged along the highway."

Miller said after the fight, discouraged and hurting, he drank "ten warm beers in a half hour" and said he became "very drunk."

District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter announced that Kermit C. Shultz, 43 W. Middle St., facing charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and a morals charge, had entered pleas of guilty to the contributing charge and to a less major morals charge than the one on which he was originally indicted.

With the pleas and cases already completed, only about eight more trials remain for the current term of court.

Stamp Society will be held in La Salle, Ill., August 13 through 16. The Philatelic Society of La Salle will be the host to this national convention. A special post office will issue a convention postmark. A full stock of commemorative from the Philatelic Agency will be available.

EASY WAYS TO ENTERTAIN

By ADELAIDE KERR

Why not take life easier this summer and entertain your friends at something beside the inevitable dinner party, which costs considerable work and money?

A swimming party is one way of doing it. If you live reasonably near water, just pile your guests in your car and zoom off to the beach for several hours of splashing, diving and lolling in the sun. You'd better be prepared to satisfy hearty appetites afterward, however.

One good answer to a beach party supper is a Maine chowder, another is hot dogs and sweet corn roasted over a camp fire. Of course before you can plan either of these, you will have to make sure there is a place on the beach where you can build a good hot fire. If that is impossible, all you have to do is add plenty of rolls or substantial sandwiches, stacks of celery and radishes and a mound of fruit — and you have a picnic supper that should satisfy your hungriest guest.

Go For Long Ride
Or if you want to make your entertaining super-simple, take your friends to the movies or the theater or for a long ride in the country. When it is over, wheel around to some good food spot for supper—anything from lobster to an ice-cream soda.

If you want to entertain at home there are lots of ways of doing it. Invite your friends in to see the home movies you took on that trip through the Rockies last summer. Or pull your best records and spend an evening with Beethoven, Mozart and Mendelssohn. Or plan to spend a couple of hours with television, if you are sure guests will enjoy it and the programs that will be on tap that evening are good.

Games can make a good evening too, if you select the right ones—and invite the right people to participate. But remember that a stuffed shirt is a stuffed shirt, and no amount of coaxing or hoping can make him look like the life of the party. So, before you plan an evening around games, be sure your guests are the kind who will swing into them. If they will, then "Ghosts," "Twenty Questions," and "Hunt the Lion's Tale" are a few favorites to put on your list — and you can stalk down scores more in a good game book.

If your friends are the kind who will have a lot more fun around bridge, canasta or bingo tables, plan your party around those.

Evening Of Talk
If you have a breeze-kissed patio or terrace, you may get the best results of all with an evening of good talk. But unless your guests know each other pretty well, you'd better check off a few good topics in advance to start the conversational ball rolling and keep it in motion.

Serve a drink and a snack — and let it be something simple. Sandwiches and hot coffee in cold weather, home made cookies and a tall iced drink in summer. Remember you are entertaining this way because you are trying to take life easier, and don't spoil all the good results by spending hours in the kitchen before the party.

NATIVE DANCER WILL GET REST UNTIL SEPT. 26

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (P) —Native Dancer, back from Chicago where he won the $100,000-added American Derby Saturday, will take a vacation until Sept. 26 when he meets Tom Fool in the "dream race" at Belmont Park—the $50,000 Synonym Mile.

Owner Alfred Vanderbilt and trainer Bill Winfrey decided the grey 3-year-old champion would skip the mile and three-quarter Saratoga Cup here Friday.

This was good news for other horses nominated for the weight-for-age cup event, and the field now may include such as Altered, LaFourche, Mameluk, Great Captain, Cold Command and Bill O'Far.

Had the Dancer started, only one or two others were expected to have opposed him.

Vanderbilt said Native Dancer, who has won 18 of his 19 races and $743,920, proved he was in excellent form when he won the derby at Washington Park.

Saratoga closes Saturday, and the Dancer will be sent to Belmont Park in New York to complete training for the Synonym. Both Vanderbilt and Winfrey said the grey charger could be kept sharp with workouts.

Tom Fool, the handicap champion who is undefeated in eight races this year, also is at Saratoga but trainer John Gaver has yet to announce his plans. Tom Fool may go to Chicago for the $100,000 Washington Park Handicap Sept. 7.

CALLS PENNSY LEADING GAME STATE IN NATION

HARRISBURG (P)—Dr. Logan J. Bennett of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service who returns to Pennsylvania as executive director of the State Game Commission considers Pennsylvania one of the leading game states of the country.

The 40-year-old wildlife authority, biologist and author was named to the $11,500-a-year post yesterday to succeed Thomas D. Frye of Camp Hill, effective Oct. 1.

"Pennsylvania is one of the leading game states in the country and I am anxious to be back there as I learned to love the state during my previous 10 years there," Dr. Bennett said at his Buckland, Va. home.

Headed Wildlife Unit
From 1938 to 1947, while a professor in wildlife management at the Pennsylvania State College, he headed the Pennsylvania wildlife cooperative unit at the school. In 1947 he was transferred to the Washington office of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife's cooperative wildlife research program and a year later became chief of its research branch.

He was appointed to his new post by the commission with the approval of Gov. John S. Fine. Dr. Bennett said he had been in full consultation with both Pennsylvania authorities and the U. S. service on the new appointment and "we are in full accord on it."

He submitted his resignation orally yesterday and he expects to arrive here about the last week in September. He will direct a three-day game board conference here that week.

A native of Missouri, Bennett is the 12th person to serve as secretary or director, top administrative post, of the State Game Commission.

"I feel it is a great honor to be selected for the post. They have a great staff and a great program in Pennsylvania," he said of his appointment.

Frye, who has held the post five years, will retire to write and travel after 28 years in the state service. He announced his resignation effective in October several months ago.

The new executive director is a past president of the National Wildlife Society and has written several books on hunting, wildlife and dogs. He also is credited with discovery of a tropical bird in the South Pacific islands.

LINES FOR PITCHER
NEWHOUSE

That's how it is! A few brief years
Of topmost skill.
And then a younger man appears
Your place to fill.

Some brilliant pitcher, famous when
You first began,
Gave you the ball, for you were then
The younger man.

When lost the speed that once you had,
Filled every base,
Out of the bull pen comes a lad
To take your place.

With you the saddened coaches stand.
One takes the ball,
Heeding the manager's command,
Saying: "That's all."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
TO BE MISSED

When a person has contributed something to our happiness, and is suddenly lost to us through death, something of us goes with him. I once came across a statement that when a visitor leaves Hawaii he himself dies a little. I think that there is some truth in this statement for I have experienced it. Likewise, it applies to people.

The very structure of our personality is the result of many contributions by our friends, and by those whose love and sacrifices have left an influence that never leaves us, so that we sorely miss them when they no longer are ours in the flesh. Something in us all dies a little with the loss of our beloved ones.

I recall when the news was flashed to my summer lodge in Nova Scotia, that Will Rogers had been killed in a plane accident. It seemed unbelievable. A quiet sadness settled upon us thousands who had never even seen him, many knowing of him only through his radio and newspaper talks and his parts in the movies. But his character was so genuine that it had taken hold upon millions. No matter how fast the years go by Will Rogers is missed.

Those near and dear to us in life are most missed in death, but there is a natural kinksp that we never lose that has been ours with a friend. That one is missed. Before leaving for my summer vacation, at the last luncheon given by what is known as the Dutch Treat Club, in New York City, I looked over the dining room and six names of friends came to my mind—all recently gone from life in early manhood. I could not help but feel that something of this delightful club had died with them.

There is something finely precious about being missed, though the missed ones may never know. We scent its meaning, however. And we are nourished spiritually by the fact.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "On Being Well Dressed."

NEED ENERGY AND PATIENCE TO REJUVENATE YOUR FURNITURE

By VIVIAN BROWN
The Associated Press

A GOOD FACIAL can turn a dusty, grimy piece of furniture into a thing of beauty.

If the wood is good — walnut, mahogany, rose-wood, fruit wood, pine — you can enhance its loveliness with a good refinishing job. All you need is energy and perseverance. The time spent will be worth the effort, and in less time than you can visit a furniture store, you will have an attractive article.

So dig into the attic or cellar for that little rosewood table or walnut wash stand or mahogany chest that Grandpa stuck in the corner. See if you can't make it prettier than anything you've seen at the country auction.

HERE'S HOW according to experts of the Johnson Consumer Education Department:

Remove all old coatings — wax polish or paint. Start with a generous application of paint or varnish remover, brushing it on and allowing it to stand until the finish is softened and begins to crinkle. Then scrape off the softened varnish or paint with a putty knife while still wet, being careful not to gouge the wood. If the surface looks spotty, repeat both remover and scraper process.

You are now ready to wash your furniture with denatured alcohol or prepared cleaner. Use a dripping rag to clean off the remover. Wipe immediately with a dry rag.

SANDPAPER with two grades of paper. Start with 3-0 and follow with a 4-0 or 5-0 until the surface is smooth. Then proceed as follows using the following: 1-2 pt. 4 lb. cut white shellac diluted with 1-2 pt. denatured alcohol, 1 to 1½; bristle brush to apply shellac, 1 pad 000 steel wool, denatured alcohol to clean the brush, paste wax (about 2 oz.).

Apply a light coat of shellac, doing as little brushing as possible. Try to cover the surface quickly and evenly because shellac begins to set very soon after application. (Clean the brush with denatured alcohol immediately after using it.) Let it dry overnight. Work paste wax into steel wool pad and apply it with the grain, rubbing just enough to remove any unevenness. Do not bear down too hard. You can feel with your fingertips when the surface is smooth. Wipe off the excess wax, and polish the surface immediately, using a clean, dry cloth. Apply a second coat of paste wax with the cloth used for wiping off excess wax. Work one section of the piece of furniture at a time, polishing with a dry cloth while the wax is still moist.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The finest finish you can achieve on a good piece of furniture involves doing seven coats of shellac and seven sandings. It gives a fine lustrous hard finish. To remove the too-shiny effect mix rottenstone with linseed oil, apply to piece with blackboard eraser, then remove. Apply paste wax the next day. This is hard work but well worth it.

To make sanding easier, you can find little rubber sanding blocks in which you can insert your sandpaper. Sandpaper for final finishing such as the super fine grade of black waterproof sandpaper gives smooth results.

YOUNG FARMER'S Clubs in Australia celebrate their 25th anniversary this year. To help commemorate this occasion, the Australian Postal Department will issue a special 3½ pence bi-colored stamp on Sept. 3.

Postmaster — General Hubert L. Anthony said that clubs of this kind were in existence more than a quarter of a century ago but they were not organized on a national basis until 1928. The first stamp organization was established July 23, 1928 in New South Wales. Last year the several state bodies became associated in an Australian Council of Young Farmers.

The new stamp will be the first Australian bi-colored commemorative ever issued. The design shows a young boy and a girl with a calf.

The date of issue of the Young Farmer's stamp coincides with the opening day of a philatelic exhibition in the Town Hall at Brighton, Victoria.

It is interesting to note that the U. S. has scheduled a new commemorative honoring the Future Farmers of America in October.

TO HONOR The 700th anniversary of Frankfurt-on-Oder, the Eastern Zone of Germany has issued a set of four new stamps, reports the New York Stamp Co. The city was first settled by Franconian merchants in the 13th Century. In 1925 it was made a town by the Margrave John I. Pictured on the stamps is a portrait of Heinrich von Kliest, a boat in the river and two views of churches in the city.

355 Polio Cases In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Health Department today reported 355 listed polio cases in Pennsylvania so far this year. The total is 13 more than for the same period of 1952. The Keystone State's worst polio year since 1916.

Dr. James D. Purvis of the department's Health Conservation Bureau, named Titusville, Crawford County, as the hardest hit by the disease this season. He said 11 cases have been reported. Titusville's population is 8,923.

"Five counties have already used up their allotments of gamma globulin and have resorted to state reserves," Dr. Purvis pointed out. He named these counties as Carbon, Clarion, Mercer, Monroe and Tioga.

"Mercer leads the five caught short with 20 cases. This is compared to the state high of 49 in Allegheny County where there is no shortage of gamma globulin."

Yesterday Mercer County recorded its fourth polio-attributed death of the year.

Witnesses Testify

A number of witnesses including Wayne Reddy, Frank Weaver, and Bruce Witter, all of Hunterstown; Russell Sterner, Ottomanna and Sgt. Joseph Temple of the local state police took the stand to testify to what happened in Hunterstown Sunday afternoon, July 26. Their testimony added up to a story that Harvey Miller had come to town, had some difficulty in parking his car in a driveway, went to the store there, got into a fight with "Dick" Brown, drank a number of bottles of beer, smashed beer bottles on the highway, kicked and fought when police attempted to put him into the police car.

Miller admitted to nearly all of the story on the stand, but said he was sober when he drove his car. He had three bottles of beer to drink before he left an inn near Emmitsburg, but "that didn't affect me," he said.

Punished In Fight

He said he got into a fight with Brown outside the store in Hunterstown, adding that "I wouldn't say anybody won the fight." He was bloody about the face, policemen said, when they arrived, had two black eyes, and "a number of brush burns, like he had been dragged along the highway."

Miller said after the fight, discouraged and hurting, he drank "ten warm beers in a half hour" and said he became "very drunk."

District Attorney Daniel E. Teltz announced that Kermit C. Shultz, 43 W. Middle St., facing charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and a morals charge, had entered pleas of guilty to the contributing charge and to a less major morals charge than the one on which he was originally indicted.

With the pleas and cases already completed, only about eight more trials remain for the current term of court.

Stamp Society will be held in La Salle, Ill., August 13 through 16. The Illinois Precancel Stamp Club will be the host to this national convention. A special post office will issue a convention postmark. A full stock of commemoratives from the Philatelic Agency will be available.

EASY WAYS TO ENTERTAIN

By ADELAIDE KERR

Why not take life easier this summer and entertain your friends at something beside the inevitable dinner party, which costs considerable work and money?

A swimming party is one way of doing it. If you live reasonably near water, just pile your guests in your car and zoom off to the beach for several hours of splashing, diving and lolling in the sun. You'd better be prepared to satisfy hearty appetites afterward, however.

One good answer to a beach party supper is a Maine chowder; another is hot dogs and sweet corn roasted over a camp fire. Of course before you can plan either of these, you will have to make sure there is a place on the beach where you can build a good hot fire. If that is impossible, all you have to do is add plenty of rolls or substantial sandwiches, stacks of celery and radishes and a mound of fruit — and you have a picnic supper that should satisfy your hungriest guest.

Go For Long Ride

Or if you want to make your entertaining super-simple, take your friends to the movies or the theater or for a long ride in the country. When it is over, wheel around to some good food spot for supper—anything from lobster to an ice-cream soda.

If you want to entertain at home there are lots of ways of doing it. Invite your friends in to see the home movies you took on that trip through the Rockies last summer. Or call your best records and spend an evening with Beethoven, Mozart and Mendelssohn. Or plan to spend a couple of hours with television, if you are sure guests will enjoy it and the programs that will be on tap that evening are good.

Games can make a good evening too, if you select the right ones—and invite the right people to participate. But remember that a stuffed shirt is a stuffed shirt, and no amount of coaxing or hoping can make him look like the life of the party. So, before you plan an evening around games, be sure your guests are the kind who will swing into them. If they will, then "Ghosts," "Twenty Questions," and "Hunt the Lion's Tale" are a few favorites to put on your list — and you can stalk down scores more in a good game book. If your friends are the kind who will have a lot more fun around bridge, canasta or bingo tables, plan your party around those.

Evening Of Talk

If you have a breeze-kissed patio or terrace, you may get the best results of all with an evening of good talk. But unless your guests know each other pretty well, you'd better check off a few good topics in advance to start the conversational ball rolling and keep it in motion.

Serve a drink and a snack — and let it be something simple. Sandwiches and hot coffee in cold weather, home made cookies and a tall iced drink in summer. Remember you are entertaining this way because you are trying to take life easier, and don't spoil all the good results by spending hours in the kitchen before the party.

NATIVE DANCER WILL GET REST UNTIL SEPT. 26

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP) —Native Dancer, back from Chicago where he won the $100,000-added American Derby Saturday, will take a vacation until Sept. 26 when he meets Tom Fool in the "dream race" at Belmont Park—the $50,000 Synsonby Mile.

Owner Alfred Vanderbilt and trainer Bill Winfrey decided the grey, 3-year-old champion would skip the mile and three-quarter Saratoga Cup here Friday.

This was good news for other horses nominated for the weight-for-age cup event, and the field now may include such as Alerted, LaFourche, Mameluke, Great Captain, Cold Command and Bit O'Fate.

Had the Dancer started, only one or two others were expected to have opposed him.

Vanderbilt said Native Dancer, who has won 18 of his 19 races and $743,920, proved he was in excellent form when he won the derby at Washington Park.

Saratoga closes Saturday, and the Dancer will be sent to Belmont Park in New York to complete training for the Synsonby. Both Vanderbilt and Winfrey said the grey charger could be kept sharp with workouts.

Tom Fool, the handicap champion who is undefeated in eight races this year, also is at Saratoga but trainer John Gaver has yet to announce his plans. Tom Fool may go to Chicago for the $100,000 Washington Park Handicap Sept. 7.

Bream Garagemen Repeat As Softball Playoff Titlists; Nip VFW 12-9 In Extra Frame

Tallying four runs in the eighth frame after being deadlocked at 8-8 at the end of the regulation seven innings, the Glenn L. Bream Garage softball team defeated the VFW 12-9 Monday evening to repeat as playoff champions of the local Softball League before approximately 400 fans.

The victory gave the Bream Garage a 3-2 edge in the title series. The garagemen had previously eliminated the Texas Lunch in a semi-final series. In another semi-final series the Vets had eliminated the Moose, regular season champions.

After four innings of tight and well-played ball Monday evening, the game broke wide open with plenty of thrills for the big crowd.

The Vets got into the scoring column first with a tally in the last of the fourth inning. With one out Buckley singled, advanced on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch.

Garagemen Spurt

Six runs in the top of the fifth gave the garagemen a commanding lead. Singles by R. Hankey, Kennel, G. Hankey, Frazer, Altomose and R. Kitzmiller, an error and several lapses by the VFW defense turned the trick.

A walk to Dorn, who had succeeded Jack Berger as the VFW hurler in the stormy fifth, double or little and singles by Frazenbaker and Staub produced three runs in the last of the fifth to put the Vets back in the game.

The Vets knotted the score at 6-6 with two runs in the sixth. Roth singled and was forced by Kebbl. Hoak skied to center. Dorn and Little smashed doubles which were good for the runs.

Again in the top of the seventh it appeared the garagemen had the game sewed up when they scored twice. Frazer singled and Fair moved him to second base on a sacrifice. Dick Altomose pounded a safety to centerfield, and when the ball took a freak hop over Little's head, he carried the bases for a homerun.

Vets Knot Count

Once more the Vets came back to deadlock the score. After one was out, Buckley walked. He stole second base. Roth grounded to third base and was safe when R. Kitzmiller delayed his throw to hold Buckley. Kebbl then lashed a single which sent both runners over. The Vet rally broke down when Hoak was tossed out at first base by Toddes and G. Kitzmiller's relay to R. Kitzmiller at third base nipped Kebbl as he went wide.

The Vet defense cracked wide open with three errors in the eighth in which combined with a single by Carter and double by Frazer to give the garagemen four tallies and the lead.

ANCIENT CARS AT WORK

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The annual trip of the Arizona Horseless Carriage Club from Tucson to the Grand Canyon and return — a round trip of 160 miles — was completed by all but two of the 16 ancient automobiles participating.

A Stutz Bearcat broke down in the mountains 200 miles north of here and a Stanley Steamer had to be towed home after one of its two cylinders burned out on the return trip.

OCEAN CITY, N. J. (AP) — It rained so hard the roof fell in. The roof on a warehouse collapsed after an early-morning downpour. Police said tons of water trapped on the flat roof caused the cave-in. Clogged drains prevented runoff.

4 TEAMS OPEN LITTLE SERIES

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Four teams of post-sized ball players went into action today to start off the 16 annual Little League Baseball World Series.

Schenectady, N. Y., faced North Newton, Mass., and Camp Hill, Pa., played Little Rock, Ark., in an afternoon-night doubleheader.

The one loss and out tournament ends Friday afternoon when a new champion of the 8-12-year-old class is crowned. The 1952 winner, Norwalk, Conn., failed to take its regional title this year.

All games of the World Series are to be played at the original Little League stadium on the outskirts of Williamsport where the game was developed in 1939.

SPECIAL DEER SEASON DATES ARE DEC. 14-15

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Special state licenses necessary to hunt antlerless deer this fall will go on sale Oct. 1 at sporting goods stores and other agencies across the state.

The State Game Commission yesterday announced the opening date of the sale in all counties except Philadelphia. Deer hunting is illegal in Philadelphia.

The special licenses, costing $1.15, are good only in the county in which bought. They can be used only during the special deer hunt, Dec. 14 and 15 this year.

Licenses Limited

Last month the commission decided to sell only 103,765 deer licenses in an effort to maintain the state deer herd. Last season 234,000 were issued.

Last year 37,329 deer were taken during a three-day season. That was almost the same as in 1951.

"It is anticipated the harvest this year will be considerably lower," the commission said in announcing its county-by-county quotas. "The number of deer hunters will be carefully limited in each county to insure that no over-harvesting of antlerless deer will occur."

Complicated Formula

More than 11,000 of the total permits will be sold in Potter and McKean counties, heart of Pennsylvania's north-central deer country. Clearfield and Elk counties are allowed 4,500 deer licenses each.

The permits were allocated on a complicated formula based on past success of deer hunters in each county. Any hunter bagging a deer previously cannot take a deer even if he has bought the special permit.

PLAYERS HAVE

Track Is Struck By Horse Owners

NEW YORK (AP)—Major league baseball entered a new era today with an official hired spokesman assigned to deal with club owners on behalf of the players.

But just how much good the players' representative would do was fogged in a maze of statements and counter statements.

Commissioner Ford Frick seemed unimpressed with the action of the players, who hired J. Norman Lewis, a New York lawyer, to handle their dealings with their bosses.

Asked what the players had gained by hiring a counsel, Frick shrugged.

"As far as I can see, nothing,"

Ralph Kiner, the Chicago Cubs slugger and Alvin Reynolds, New York Yankees' pitcher, as the respective player representatives of their leagues were probably the most instrumental big leaguers in bringing about the move.

Engaged As Counsel

Said Kiner:

"We hired him mainly as a counsel, not as a representative."

Reynolds was more explicit.

"We were not getting the job done ourselves," he said, "so we decided on a lawyer to help us."

We want him to sit in on meetings with the club owners and present our side of the case."

The players' side consists mainly of forcing an increase in the minimum wage, now $5,000 per year, eliminating night games on getting age and opening night games from the spring training schedules.

Just how far the baseball brass will be willing to go with Lewis remained a moot question. This is the first time the owners have been faced with the problem of having to talk to their hirelings through a legal mind.

FISCEL WINS 7TH DECISION

Marlin "Skip" Fiscel annexed his seventh victory for Hopkinsville, Ky., of the Kitty League last week when he pitched his team to a 14-4 win over Jackson.

After a rocky start in which he allowed three runs in the first inning, he settled down and yielded but one tally in the remaining eight frames. Prior to that victory Fiscel crooked a 3-1 verdict.

The regular season of the Kitty League ends this week. Hopkinsville, Jackson and Mayfield are in a tight scramble for fourth place and a position in the playoffs.

In a recent letter to his parents, Borough Officer and Mrs. Ralph Fiscel, Baltimore St., the former Gettysburg High School star said his manager had told him he felt he would be ready for Class A ball next year and that he would take spring training with Williamsport of the Eastern League.

Track Is Struck By Horse Owners

FREEHOLD, N. J. (AP)—Freehold Raceway, New Jersey's only trotting track, today faced a strike by horse owners dissatisfied over purses and entry fees.

The required 12-hour strike notice was served on track officials and the U. S. Trotting Assn. yesterday after a unanimous vote of the owners.

Edward Dougherty of Jersey City, executive committee member of the Thoroughbred Owners' Assn., said the owners want bigger purses and elimination of a two per cent entry fee.

The raceway currently is enjoying the best meeting in its 101-year history.

NEW CHAMPION OF SMALL BORE RIFLE CHOSEN

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—A Connecticut Yankee who makes his own gun stocks, works in an ammunition factory and fires a minimum of 50,000 rounds a year in practice, is the new national small bore rifle champion.

John J. Crowley of Clintonville, Conn., a quiet, stocky 33-year-old research foreman for Winchester Repeating Arms Co., ended four days of firing here yesterday with 3,197 points of a possible 3,200.

Two other sharpshooters equaled Crowley's 3,197 score — Charles Whipple of Somerset, Pa. and John Moschkau of Waterloo, Iowa. But Crowley had 255 of 259 shots in the X-ring, a 7 1/2 inch wide circle at the center of the bullseye, and half the size of the full bullseye. Whipple got 253 in the ring, and Moschkau, 252.

Junior Champion

Charles Rodgers, 18-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., lad, defended successfully his junior small bore rifle championship for shooters to and under. He scored 3,195 for an overall ranking of eighth among the 700 competitors. Rev. Brewster of Glendale, Ariz. was second junior with 3,193.

Miss Viola Polium of Brooklyn, Pa. fired a perfect 400 yesterday to overtake Mrs. Neva Seagly of Topeka, Ind., who had 397. They ended tied at 3185, but Miss Polium had 234 shots in the X-ring to 225 for Mrs. Seagly and won the title.

The Caswell Trophy for small bore rifle teams went to a New York State team composed of Sidney Wimbarger, Melvaine, Walter, Tomson, Flushing; Ed Chase, Barabara, Charles Eckles, New Hyde Park; A. B. Wood, Elmdrick; and A. C. Blensinger, Rochester. They scored 2,389 of a possible 2,400. New Jersey's team was second with 2,382.

Carl Furillo, outfielder for the Brooklyn Dodgers, started his baseball career as a pitcher in 1940 with Peconic City in the Eastern Shore League. Carl also pitched the outfield when not hurling.

WISCONSIN GIRL

UPSETS WOMAN AMATEUR CHAMP

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Joyce Ziske may be a one-day sensation in a golf tournament that has had hundreds of surprises in its previous 52 years of competition. But she made it a good one while it lasted.

Joyce, a husky, long-hitting 19-year-old who lives in Milwaukee and plays from a club in nearby Waterford, Wis., couldn't do anything yesterday but beat another 19-year-old kid in a 19-hole match. The big news about it was that the loser was Little Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., the 1953 British Women's Champion and about the brightest prospect North American women's golf has produced in years.

That was by far the biggest upset of yesterday's play, which saw 21 first round and 53 second round matches run off in the all-matches play tournament. And it proceeded about as dramatic a finish as the Women's Amateur has seen in a long time.

Faces 1943 Winner

But Miss Ziske may not go beyond today's third round. She runs right into an ex-champ, rangy Grace Lenczyk of Newton, Conn., the 1948 U. S. Women's Champion.

Miss Lenczyk, who has been making a strenuous comeback effort this summer, disposed of Mrs. Charles F. Spalding of Greenwich, Conn., 5 and 4. They were among 197 players who drew first round byes.

AL ROSEN TOPS LOOP SLUGGERS

NEW YORK (AP)—Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson, a perennial contender National League batting honors, is making a belated bid for 1953 title.

The versatile Dodger has moved into third place with a .333 average and is challenging the leadership of the league's top slugger, Monte Irvin of the Giants, who is second with a .333 average.

Schoendienst is runner-up at .337 in the American League hitting derby. Cleveland's Al Rosen has wrestled the lead away from Mickey Vernon of the Senators. Rosen picked up 6 points to force a second round battle with Vernon.

Vernon collected 8 hits in 32 at bats and lost 5 points. On the other hand, Minnesota's White Sox outfielder, an 11-point decline and fell from second to third at .316.

Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee tops the National League in home runs with 39 and Roy Campanella of the Dodgers is the pace setter in runs batted in with 115.

Donald Loucks, tennis coach at Florida State U., served as an instructor at West Point during World War II.

HANEY CERTAIN OF 1954 PACT WITH PIRATES

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Manager Fred Haney, who appears sure of another chance next year to try and pull the down-trodden Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League cellar, says he's suffered "real disappointment" this season.

Branch Rickey Jr., a club official and son of General Manager Branch Rickey, virtually confirmed reports yesterday that Haney will be given a 1954 contract and Haney left little doubt he will sign.

Haney inherited a last place, road-studded club from former Manager Billy Meyer when he took over last December. The Bucs have won only 41 games this season while losing 69. Haney said he isn't blaming any one player "for two or three."

"We've all made mistakes," Haney said "from the manager on down the line. I've made a lot of them and know it."

Won Coast Pennant

Last year, Haney was enjoying more favorable working conditions as manager of the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League. The Stars won the Pacific League championship.

With a grim, Haney said: "I wouldn't have had to come to Pittsburgh unless I wanted to, because I had a pretty good setup in Hollywood. I could see Rickey was in the midst of a youth program and I wanted to be on it when it materialized. I am no quitter."

The Buc skipper said he had high hopes when the club began spring training. "I thought we were going to eliminate a lot of mistakes," he said. "Instead we've created situations which have lost ball games. We just manage to give up a couple of runs a day with mistakes."

Praises Team Spirit

But Haney is high with praise for the team spirit. He says: "The boys have given me 100 per cent, even in the rough spots. I couldn't criticize any one of them, even considering where we stand in the league. They have not been out hustled by any team, and of that I'm proud."

"Take the pitching. We have one or two pitchers who have a lot of stuff. They can make three or four mistakes, but their abundance of stuff gets them by. The others make a mistake and we're done. That's because we don't have the offense to overcome those things."

"Sure, it's been a disappointing season for all of us," says Haney, "but we never quit."

GET STAR FOR BULLET ROOKIE

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Assn. announced yesterday they had obtained veteran scoring star, Max Zaslofsky from the New York Knickerbockers in exchange for Jim Baechtold, a Bullets rookie last year.

The 27-year-old Zaslofsky, chosen four times on the league's all-star team, ranks third among the NBA's all-time scorers, behind George Mikan and Ray Fells.

His 11.9 scoring average last season was his lowest output in seven years.

Baltimore also obtained Roy Beliveau, formerly of Seton Hall, and Jim Lusk of St. Francis of Brooklyn. They gave up John Ligas, another Seton Hall cager drafted last April.

Mary Eilenberger Scores Easy Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Top-seeded Mary Ann Eilenberger of San Diego, Calif., moved into the third round of the U. S. Girls' Lawn Tennis singles tournament today after a 6-0, 6-2 victory over Georgia Carrington of Montclair, N. J.

Miss Eilenberger's triumph yesterday followed a first-round bye. Darlene Hard, second seeded from Monrovia, Calif., won 5-4, 5-1 from Ellen Rockwood of Worcester, Mass., and 5-1, 6-0 from Dennis Bradshaw of San Diego.

First-seeded Gwyneth Johnson of Philadelphia's Merion Cricket Club, Middle States girls' grass court queen, triumphed over Carolyn Rittenour of West Point Beach, Fla., 6-3, 6-2, after a session of Lorraine Schneider of Fort Pierce, Fla., 6-2, 6-0.

Yankees And Dodgers Are Expected To Win Pennants By From 9 To 12 Contests

By BEN PHLEGAR AP Sports Writer

Unless the Milwaukee Braves and Chicago White Sox can find a way to repeal the law of averages, Brooklyn should win the National League by 12 games and New York should win the American by nine.

A survey today of the remaining games of the top two clubs in each of the leagues showed:

1. The Dodgers should win 21 and lose 11 the rest of the season, giving them a final total of 105 victories and 49 defeats.

2. The Braves should have a 17-13 record the rest of the way and an overall standing of 93-61.

3. The Yankees can be expected to win 20 and lose 12, giving them 103-61 for the year.

4. The White Sox figure to win 19 and lose 12, which would leave them with 94-60 at the end.

This law of averages has been evaded in the past, but not often. These are some of the hard, cold facts the Braves must face.

30 Games To Play

They have 30 games left to play, divided exactly in half between first and second-division teams. So far this year they've won 27 and lost 24 against clubs now in the first division. This would figure to give them an 8-4 break the rest of the way. Against second-division foes the Braves stand 49-36. This is equal to a 9-6 split in the last 15 games, and a total of 17-13.

That won't be enough to make event a dent in the Dodgers' current nine-game edge if Brooklyn keeps up anything like the pace it has maintained so far.

The Dodgers have 18 games left with other first-division teams but 50 far they have a 50-18 record against them and this would mean an 11-7 division of the remaining contests. Brooklyn has feasted on the 14-rams this year, winning 54 of 74 meetings. This equals a 10-4 break and a total of 31-11.

Not Much Choice

In the American League there isn't much to choose between the prospective records of the Yankees and the White Sox but the Yanks currently lead by 8½ games and have played one less game than Chicago.

Here's how it should work out. Chicago has 16 first-division and 15 second-division games remaining. The White Sox have won 30 of 50 against the first string so far, which should make it 10-6 the rest of the way. They've been only a shade stronger against the second division, winning 45 and losing 28. This would work out to 9-6 and a total of 19-12.

The Yankees don't have as good a record against the first-division teams as the White Sox do but out of their remaining 19 they figure to win 11 and lose 8 since earlier this year they won 27 and lost 20. The Yanks grew fat against the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth-place outfits with a 56-19 record. This should mean 9-4 the rest of the way and a 30-12 total.

After a day off yesterday the National League goes back to work with a vengeance—four twilight-night double-headers. Brooklyn enters the Chicago, Milwaukee and Philadelphia. St. Louis at New York and Cincinnati at Pittsburgh.

In the American League, St. Louis and Boston continue to rest. Philadelphia is at Chicago and Washington at Cleveland for night games and the Yankees at Detroit for the sole day game.

CRIMINAL NICKNAMES

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Skinny George, Joe the Boob, Sissy the Dip and Prezzie are due for special attention from the Philadelphia police department.

For the first time in its history, the department is compiling a criminal file of criminals and criminal suspects. About 300 nicknames already are known. The file, when completed, is expected to exceed 1,500 names.

Bream Garagemen Repeat As Softball Playoff Titlists; Nip VFW 12-9 In Extra Frame

Tallying four runs in the eighth frame after being deadlocked at 8-8 at the end of the regulation seven innings, the Glenn L. Bream Garage softball team defeated the VFW 12-9 Monday evening to repeat as playoff champions of the local Softball League before approximately 400 fans.

The victory gave the Bream Garage a 3-2 edge in the title series. The garagemen had previously eliminated the Texas Lunch in a semi-final series. In another semi-final series the Vets had eliminated the Moose, regular season champions.

After four innings of tight and well-played ball Monday evening, the game broke wide open with plenty of thrills for the big crowd. The Vets got into the scoring column first with a tally in the last of the fourth inning. With one out Buckley singled, advanced on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch.

Garagemen Spurt

Six runs in the top of the fifth gave the garagemen a commanding lead. Singles by R. Hankey, Kennell, G. Hankey, Frazer, Altomose and R. Kitzmiller, an error and several lapses by the VFW defense turned the trick.

A walk to Dorm, who had succeeded Jack Berger as the VFW hurler in the stormy fifth, double by Little and singles by Fazenbaker and Staub produced three runs in the last of the fifth to put the Vets back in the game.

The Vets knotted the score at 6-6 with two runs in the sixth. Roth singled and was forced by Kebil. Hoak skied to center. Dorm and Little smashed doubles which were good for the runs.

Again in the top of the seventh it appeared the garagemen had the game sewed up when they scored twice. Frazer singled and Fair moved him to second base on a sacrifice. Dick Altomose pounded a safety to centerfield and when the ball took a freak hop over Little's head, he circled the bases for a homerun.

Vets Knot Count

Once more the Vets came back to deadlock the score. After one was out, Buckley walked. He stole second base. Roth grounded to third base and was safe when R. Kitzmiller delayed his throw to hold Buckley. Kebil then lashed a single which sent both runners over. The Vet rally broke down when Hoak was tossed out at first base by Toddles and G. Kitzmiller's relay to R. Kitzmiller at third base nipped Kebil as he went wide.

The Vet defense cracked wide open with three errors in the eighth in which combined with a single by Carter and double by Frazer to give the garagemen four tallies and the decision.

PLAYERS HAVE SPOKESMAN IN BASEBALL LOOPS

NEW YORK (AP)—Major league baseball entered a new era today with an official hired spokesman assigned to deal with club owners on behalf of the players.

FISCEL WINS 7TH DECISION

Marlin "Skip" Fiscel annexed his seventh victory for Hopkinsville, Ky., of the Kitty League last week when he pitched his team to a 14-4 win over Jackson.

After a rocky start in which he allowed three runs in the first inning, he settled down and yielded but one tally in the remaining eight frames. Prior to that victory Fiscel dropped a 2-1 verdict.

The regular season of the Kitty League ends this week. Hopkinsville, Jackson and Mayfield are in a tight scramble for fourth place and a position in the playoffs.

In a recent letter to his parents, Borough Officer and Mrs. Ralph Fiscel, Baltimore St., the former Gettysburg High School star said his manager had told him he felt he would be ready for Class A ball next year and that he would take spring training with Williamsport of the Eastern League.

Track Is Struck By Horse Owners

FREEHOLD, N. J. (AP)—Freehold Raceway, New Jersey's only trotting track, today faced a strike by horse owners dissatisfied over purses and entry fees.

The required 72-hour strike notice was served on track officials and the U. S. Trotting Assn. yesterday after a unanimous vote of the owners.

Edward Dougherty of Jersey City, executive committee member of the Thoroughbred Owners' Assn., said the owners want bigger purses and elimination of a two per cent entry fee.

The raceway currently is enjoying the best meeting in its 101-year history.

NEW CHAMPION OF SMALL BORE RIFLE CHOSEN

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—A Connecticut Yankee who makes his own gun stocks, works in an ammunition factory and fires "a minimum of 50,000 rounds a year in practice," is the new national small bore rifle champion.

John J. Crowley of Clintonville, Conn., a quiet, stocky 38-year-old research foreman for Winchester Repeating Arms Co., ended four days of firing here yesterday with 3,197 points of a possible 3,200.

Two other sharpshooters equalled Crowley's 3,197 score—Charles Whipple of Somerset, Pa., and John Moschkau of Waterloo, Iowa. But Crowley had 255 of 320 shots in the X-ring, a 3/4 inch wide circle at the center of the bullseye and half the size of the full bullseye. Whipple got 253 in the ring, and Moschkau, 252.

Junior Champion

Charles Rodgers, 18-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., lad, defended successfully his junior small bore rifle championship, for shooters 18 and under. He scored 3,195 for an overall ranking of eighth among the 700 competitors. Rex Brewster of Glendale, Ariz., was second junior with 3,193.

Miss Viola Poillon of Brookville, Pa., fired a perfect 400 yesterday to overtake Mrs. Neva Seagly of Topeka, Ind., who had 397. They ended tied at 3,185, but Miss Poillon had 234 shots in the X-ring to 225 for Mrs. Seagly and won the title.

The Caswell Trophy for small-bore rifle teams went to a New York State team composed of Sidney Winerberger, Malverne, Walter Tomson, Flushing; Ed Chase, Batavia; Charles Eckles, New Hyde Park; A. B. Wood, Eldridge; and A. C. Blensinger, Rochester. They scored 2,389 of a possible 2,400. New Jersey's team was second with 2,388.

Carl Furillo, outfielder for the Brooklyn Dodgers, started his baseball career as a pitcher in 1940 with Pocomoke City in the Eastern Shore League. Carl also played the outfield when not hurling.

WISCONSIN GIRL UPSETS WOMAN AMATEUR CHAMP

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Joyce Ziske may be a one-day sensation in a golf tournament that has had hundreds of surprises in its previous 52 years of competition. But she made it a good one while it lasted.

Joyce, a husky, long-hitting 19-year-old who lives in Milwaukee and plays from a club in nearby Waterford, Wis., couldn't do anything yesterday but beat another 19-year-old kid in a 19-hole match. The big news about it was that the loser was little Marlene Stewart of Ponthill, Ont., the 1953 British Women's Champion and about the brightest prospect North American women's golf has produced in years.

That was by far the biggest upset of yesterday's play, which saw 21 first round and 53 second round matches run off in the all-match-play tournament. And it produced about as dramatic a finish as the Women's Amateur has seen in a long time.

Faces 1948 Winner

But Miss Ziske may not go beyond today's third round. She runs right into an ex-champ, rangy Grace Lenczyk of Newton, Conn., the 1948 U. S. Women's Champion.

Miss Lenczyk, who has been making a strenuous comeback effort this summer, disposed of Mrs. Charles F. Spalding of Greenwich, Conn., 5 and 4. They were among 107 players who drew first round byes.

AL ROSEN TOPS LOOP SLUGGERS

NEW YORK (AP)—Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson, a perennial threat for National League batting honors, is making a belated bid for the 1953 title.

The versatile Dodger has moved into third place with a .332 average and is challenging the leaders, Monte Irvin of the Giants and Red Schoendienst of the Cards. Irvin leads the league with .338 and Schoendienst is runner-up at .337.

In the American League hitting derby, Cleveland's Al Rosen has wrested the lead away from Mickey Vernon of the Senators. Rosen picked up 6 points to forge ahead of Vernon, .326 to .325. The Indians' third baseman went 13-for-33 and climbed up from third place.

Vernon collected 8 hits in 32 trips and lost 6 points. Oreste (Minnie) Minoso of the White Sox suffered an 11-point decline and fell from second to third at .318.

Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee tops the National League in home runs with 39 and Roy Campanella of the Dodgers is the pace setter in runs batted in with 115.

Donald Loucks, tennis coach at Florida State U., served as an instructor at West Point during World War II.

HANEY CERTAIN OF 1954 PACT WITH PIRATES

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Manager Fred Haney, who appears sure of another chance next year to try and pull the down-trodden Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League cellar, says he's suffered "real disappointment" this season.

Branch Rickey Jr., a club official and son of General Manager Branch Rickey, virtually confirmed reports yesterday that Haney will be given a 1954 contract and Haney left little doubt he will sign.

Haney inherited a last place, rookie-studded club from former Manager Billy Meyer when he took over last December. The Bucs have won only 41 games this season while losing 89. Haney said he isn't blaming any one player "or two or three."

"We've all made mistakes," Haney said "from the manager on down the line. I've made a lot of them and know it."

Won Coast Pennant

Last year, Haney was enjoying more favorable working conditions as manager of the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League. The Stars won the Pacific League championship.

With a grin, Haney said:

"I wouldn't have had to come to Pittsburgh unless I wanted to, because I had a pretty good setup in Hollywood. I could see Rickey was in the midst of a youth program and I wanted to be in on it when it materialized. I am no quitter."

The Buc skipper said he had high hopes when the club began spring training. "I thought we were going to eliminate a lot of mistakes," he said. "Instead we've created situations which have lost ball games. We just manage to give up a couple of runs a day with mistakes."

Praises Team Spirit

But Haney is high with praise for the team spirit. He says: "The boys have given me 100 per cent, even in the rough spots. I couldn't criticize any one of them, even considering where we stand in the league. They have not been out hustled by any team, and of that I'm proud."

"Take the pitching. We have one or two pitchers who have a lot of stuff. They can make three or four mistakes, but their abundance of stuff gets them by. The others make a mistake and we're done. That's because we don't have the offense to overcome those things."

"Sure, it's been a disappointing season for all of us," says Haney, "but we never quit."

GET STAR FOR BULLET ROOKIE

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Assn. announced yesterday they had obtained veteran scoring star Max Zaslofsky from the New York Knickerbockers in exchange for Jim Baechtold, a Bullet rookie last year.

The 27-year-old Zaslofsky, chosen four times on the league's all-star team, ranks third among the NBA's all-time scorers, behind George Mikan and Joe Fuiks.

His 11.9 scoring average last season was his lowest output in seven years.

Baltimore also obtained Roy Beliveau, formerly of Seton Hall, and Jim Luisi of St. Francis of Brooklyn. They gave up John Ligos, another Seton Hall cager drafted last April.

Mary Ellenberger Scores Easy Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Top-seeded Mary Ann Ellenberger of San Diego, Calif., moved into the third round of the U. S. Girls' Lawn Tennis singles tournament today after a 6-0, 6-2 victory over Georgia Carrington of Montclair, N. J.

Miss Ellenberger's triumph yesterday followed a first-round bye. Darlene Hard, second seeded from Montebello, Calif., won 6-4, 6-1 from Ellen Rockwood of Worcester, Mass., and 6-1, 6-0 from Dennis Bradshaw of San Diego.

Fifth-seeded Gwyneth Johnson of Philadelphia's Merion Cricket Club, Middle States girls' grass court queen, triumphed over Carolyn Rittenour of West Palm Beach, Fla., 6-3, 6-2, after disposing of Lorraine Schneider of Fort Pierce, Fla., 6-2, 6-2.

PITCHER SLUGS TWO HOMERS

By The Associated Press
Pitcher Ed Cereghino today is the toast of Binghamton—for his hitting.

Cereghino, locked in a 13-inning pitching duel with the Schenectady Blue Jays' Tom Casagrande, bashed a home run to lead off the final inning and gave the Triplets a 4-3 Eastern League victory last night. It was his second homer of the evening—he hit one in the seventh to tie the score.

The pitcher's slugging spoiled "baseball appreciation night" for an estimated 4,000 Schenectady fans. Casagrande struck out 12 Triplets but gave up another home run to Cal Neiman of the Trips.

In other games, first-place Reading took an 8-5 decision at home from the Scranton Miners, the Elmira Pioneers defeated the visiting Albany Senators, 4-2, and the Williamsport Athletics smothered the Wilkes-Barre Barons at Wilkes-Barre, 14-0.

2 LOCAL BOYS AMONG VETS ON DELONE SQUAD

Approximately 40 candidates, seven of whom are lettermen, are working out daily at Delone Catholic High School, McSherrystown, in preparation for the coming football season.

Two Gettysburg boys, Martin Redding and Charles Hemler, both halfbacks, are among the veterans. Phil Kenworthy is also a candidate for a varsity berth.

Other lettermen include Gerald Shrader and Claude Zepp, tackles; Glenn Zeigler, guard; Big Tom Smith, halfback, and Wilbur Noel, quarterback.

Smith and Noel will serve as co-captains for the Squires during the 1953 campaign.

Head Coach Johnny MacMahon and his assistant, Gene Bonelli, are pleased with the excellent spirit shown by the candidates to date. Although the squad will be comparatively inexperienced, the Squires are pinning their hopes on a successful season on their team spirit.

Until the school term starts next week, the Delone outfit will hold practice each morning and afternoon. The noon luncheon is served the squad in the school cafeteria.

Delone's opening game will be Friday, September 11, when Hanover will be met at Hanover.

TITLE SERIES OPENS TONIGHT AT IDAVILLE

Idaville will be the scene of the first game tonight in the title best-of-seven series with the Shippensburg Legion for the playoff championship of the Cumberland County Baseball League. The game will start at 6 o'clock.

The Shippensburg outfit gained the final series by edging Masland, regular season champions, Monday evening 3-2 to take the deciding game of a semi-final series.

Idaville had previously eliminated Newville in another semi-final series.

Score by innings:
Masland 0 0 0 2 0 0 2-11
Shippensburg 0 0 0 3 0 0 3-6 4
Batteries: Masland, Koblish, Stitt (4) and Darhower; Shippensburg, Pechart and Rosenberry.

Russia Makes "Subtle As A Truck" Gesture To Mollify East Germans, Beat Adenauer

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians were expected to make some move to influence the West German elections and perhaps try to mollify the East Germans. They made it. It was as delicate and subtle as a truck.

In East Germany, run by Communist puppets of Moscow, are 18 million Germans. In West Germany, whose freely elected government cooperates with the West, are 48 million Germans.

Germans in both sections want their country unified. The Russians have asked at Western Allied attempts to bring it about. But the possibility makes nice bait for the Russians to dangle over Germans' heads.

In West Germany on Sept. 6 there will be elections for the new Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament. The main contest is between the Christian Democrats, headed by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, and the Social Democrats.

Adenauer Favors West
The result will decide whether Adenauer continues in office. In working with the West, he has gone so far as to favor putting West Germans in the European Defense Community, a single West European army, which hasn't been created yet.

The Russians have fiercely opposed this military tieup with the Western Allies. They have a stake in winning Adenauer defeated.

The Social Democrats have campaigned against Adenauer with the argument that his plan for joining EDC would make unification impossible, since Russia could block it by holding on to East Germany. So EDC and unification became main issues in the German elections.

But before Russia could make some move intended to influence the West Germans against Adenauer, events took the play from them. In mid-June the East Germans voted against the treatment given them by the Russians and their puppets in East Germany.

Embarrasses Reds
It was clear notice to the West Germans and to the world how they felt about their Communist-run East German government. This gave the West an opportunity to help the East Germans and add to the Russians' embarrassment.

Shortly after the riots the United States started sending 15 million dollars in food to Adenauer's government to distribute to any East Germans who would dare the Russians by going into West Berlin for it. Many dared.

The Russians earlier were put under an additional embarrassment when this country asked them to let the food be sent into East Germany. They refused.

West Favors Adenauer
The West, of course, has a stake in the outcome of the German elections too since it wants Adenauer to win and get into the EDC. If the West German voters could be influenced, the food wouldn't lose votes for Adenauer.

Then the United States, Britain and France hit the Russians another belt. They suggested their foreign ministers sit down with Russia's foreign minister to talk about unification and free elections for all Germans, East and West, to choose a single German government.

After the demonstration of East German feeling showed in the riots, there didn't seem much doubt that if the East Germans could join with those in the West in choosing a government, it wouldn't be a Russian puppet.

Red Note Is Vague
After about three weeks the Russians sent a note agreeing to such a conference but it was a fuzzy kind of note and threw in various outside issues. While the Western Powers were puzzling over it, Soviet Premier Malenkov made a speech.

He said any unified Germany would have to be disarmed. Then the Russians sent a second note, which seemed a plain acknowledgment that their first note showed either care or confusion.

They suggested a conference on Germany in six months. This dangled a vague hope of something in front of the Germans just before election time while leaving the Russians free to wreck such a conference six months later, if it was ever held.

In the meantime, they said, there should be a provisional government set up for all Germany. Made up how? A combination, the Russians said, it should be composed of the East and West German parliaments.

East Repudiate Reds
But to the West Germans this East German Parliament, a creature of the Communists, could hardly claim to be representative of the East Germans who had in effect repudiated it with their riots.

This didn't sit well with Adenauer's Christian Democrats or his election opponents, the Social Democrats. But EDC and unification remained issues, for Russia warned unification was impossible if West Germany joined EDC.

Then Russia tried another move. No doubt intended to serve a triple purpose: soften some West Germans' mollify the East Germans; and bolster the sagging prestige of the East German government.

Calling the Communist leaders of East Germany to Moscow, Russia promised East Germany financial

If DROUGHTS COME IN 1954
By costly experience eastern farmers, orchardists, and vegetable gardeners are slowly but inescapably arriving at the conclusion that they must adopt some workable form of irrigation. Of course, elaborate overhead systems are not practical for general use because their original cost calls for intensive market gardening to justify the investment. In numerous instances land slopes do not permit any type of irrigation. Thus, advice must be general to apply to a subject so vast and varied.

First of course, emphasis must be placed and kept on providing more and deeper organic matter in the soil. This is the moisture-holding property and the more liberally a soil is mellowed with decayed vegetation the more water it will absorb and the longer it will retain this supply. This factor has always been and always will be truth No. 1 in meeting the menace of drought or light rainfall.

The second fact ever plant grower should stress is summer mulching. A heavy vegetable covering not only prevents escape of moisture held in the soil but it eliminates the extensive labor of cultivation, it invites roots into the rich surface soil to feed, it promotes the maximum action of beneficial bacteria, and it prevents decay and contamination of such crops as strawberries, tomatoes, cucumbers, squashes, and cantaloupes. Numerous farmers and gardeners have proved conclusively during the past season that mulching saves crops effectively when droughts come.

Gardeners and orchardists who often encounter difficulties in obtaining sufficient and satisfactory materials for summer mulching may easily grow their own material. Winter rye seeded in August will attain growth by April to provide a vast supply of material and the residue may then be turned under to improve the soil. Then in May, after the soil warms up, Sudan grass may be seeded on a small area to produce several summer cuttings to augment the supply.

Direct irrigation may be practiced on a wide range of methods, from 16-gallon milk cans or metal drums set at intervals along crop rows or beneath fruit trees with small "leaks" provided in them to open-trench and sprinkling systems. One of the more practical ways is the porous hose method. This may be operated from a pressure water line or from an elevated tank or even on a small scale from elevated barrels. Farm supply dealers now carry hose for this purpose or old lawn hose may be utilized, with punctures made every few inches to permit water to seep out.

Wells or unfailling springs are satisfactory sources of water. In several communities over the past few years farmers and gardeners have cooperated in bringing irrigation pipes from larger bodies of water — rivers, large creeks or lakes. Here is a worthy subject for community discussion and action. Costs are prorated according to acreage to be watered.

For fruit trees, vegetable gardens, truck crops and small fruits the porous hose method of irrigation plus heavy summer mulching is a combination to provide effective insurance against droughts short or long.

The percentage of winning favorites at the Monmouth Park meeting for the first 19 days was 30.2 with a total of 45 choices scoring in 152 races.

Fish, Dye And Suds In Campus Fountain

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Officials of Oklahoma A. and M. College didn't count on student pranks when they constructed the ornamental marble fountain in front of the new $4,500,000 library.

First off, a catfish was found swimming in the cool, clear water.

Then a few students tried to cool off.

When campus cops were posted, the youths took it as a dare and began dropping in dyes. The fountain pool alternately glowed purple, red and green.

To end it all, someone dropped in a batch of soap flakes and the next morning the pool was sudsy.

Fish, Dye And Suds In Campus Fountain

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Officials of Oklahoma A. and M. College didn't count on student pranks when they constructed the ornamental marble fountain in front of the new $4,500,000 library.

First off, a catfish was found swimming in the cool, clear water.

Then a few students tried to cool off.

When campus cops were posted, the youths took it as a dare and began dropping in dyes. The fountain pool alternately glowed purple, red and green.

To end it all, someone dropped in a batch of soap flakes and the next morning the pool was sudsy.

IF DROUGHTS COME IN 1954

By costly experience eastern farmers, orchardists, and vegetable gardeners are slowly but inescapably arriving at the conclusion that they must adopt some workable form of irrigation. Of course, elaborate overhead systems are not practical for general use because their original cost calls for intensive market gardening to justify the investment. In numerous instances land slopes do not permit any type of irrigation. Thus, advice must be general to apply to a subject so vast and varied.

First of course, emphasis must be placed and kept on providing more and deeper organic matter in the soil. This is the moisture-holding property and the more liberally a soil is mellowed with decayed vegetation the more water it will absorb and the longer it will retain this supply. This factor has always been and always will be truth No. 1 in meeting the menace of drought or light rainfall.

The second fact ever plant grower should stress is summer mulching. A heavy vegetative covering not only prevents escape of moisture held in the soil but it eliminates the extensive labor of cultivation, it invites roots into the rich surface soil to feed, it promotes the maximum action of beneficial bacteria, and it prevents decay and contamination of such crops as strawberries, tomatoes, cucumbers, squashes, and cantaloupes. Numerous farmers and gardeners have proved conclusively during the past season that mulching saves crops effectively when droughts come.

Gardeners and orchardists who often encounter difficulties in obtaining sufficient and satisfactory materials for summer mulching may easily grow their own material. Winter rye seeded in August will attain growth by April 1 to provide a vast supply of material and the residue may then be turned under to improve the soil. Then in May, after the soil warms up, Sudan grass may be seeded on a small area to produce several summer cuttings to augment the supply.

Direct irrigation may be practiced on a wide range of methods, from 10-gallon milk cans or metal drums set at intervals along crop rows or beneath fruit trees with small "leaks" provided in them to open-turf and sprinkling systems. One of the more practical ways is the porous hose method. This may be operated from a pressure water line or from an elevated tank or even on a small scale from elevated barrels. Farm supply dealers now carry hose for this purpose or old lawn hose may be utilized, with punctures made every few inches to permit water to seep out.

Wells or unfailing springs are satisfactory sources of water. In several communities over the past few years farmers and gardeners have cooperated in bringing irrigation pipes from larger bodies of water—rivers, large creeks or lakes. Here is a worthy subject for community discussion and action. Costs are prorated according to acreage to be watered.

For fruit trees, vegetable gardens, truck crops and small fruits the porous hose method of irrigation plus heavy summer mulching is a combination to provide effective insurance against droughts short or long.

The percentage of winning favorites at the Monmouth Park meeting for the first 19 days was 30.2 with a total of 46 choices scoring in 152 races.

DAVE OYLER MOTORS

STEINWEHR AVENUE PHONE 757 GETTYSBURG, PA.

Men Resurrect And Run Car They Built As Boys In 1904

ELIZABETH, N. J. (AP)—Two dignified, gray-haired men recently trundled a strange looking nine-foot wheeled device out of the cellar of a house on Prince St. It was a home-made automobile, powered by a primitive one cylinder engine, which they had built in 1904 when they were boyhood chums here.

One of the men was Woodruff W. Halsey, sales manager of a battery firm. The other was Federal Judge Edward J. Dumock, of the New York District Court, who recently presided at the trial of the second sitting Communists.

Dumock and Halsey got the idea of resurrecting the ancient "buckboard," as it was licensed in 1904 by New Jersey's Department of State, while reminiscing last fall about the pleasures of their boyhood.

The car, saved in half, still was in the cellar of Halsey's home. Working on weekends, the judge and the executive restored the buckboard to its old-time glory. They were amazed to find that the original motor still worked.

The car has boylike type wheels at each end, connected by a plank. The motor is set up at the rear and there is a small hood at the front with a steering wheel. The wheel is about two feet.

It is a little difficult at first glance to tell which end is which. Especially since the operators sit back to back on the plank, one steering and the other finding with the motor.

They also must sit cross legged, since the plank is only a foot from the ground and there is no provision for leg room.

Natives Amazed
After the buckboard was refurbished and had a new coat of shiny black paint, Dumock and Halsey pushed it to a quarter-mile track, for a try out. Passersby gaped and scratched their heads as the two men rolled the 250-pound contraption through the streets.

The motor was started with a scratchy roar and it moved about a sixth of a mile down the track before a cloud of blue smoke emerged from the motor and it choked out.

Some delicate adjustments of the carburetor were made and the trial run continued.
"Our one" will be hurt if it doesn't go around the track once without stopping," said Halsey to the on-looker, a newspaper reporter.

Twice the buckboard negotiated about three quarters of the track before gasping to a stop.

Repairs Needed
Finally with a running push, Judge Dumock almost completed a lap. Then the proud owners decided more repairs were needed on the carburetor, which wasn't feeding enough gas from the three-quarter tank on the rear.

The buckboard qualifies as one of the oldest operating motor vehicles in the State of New Jersey. The boys got the auto fever in 1903 when they were in their early teens. Their built "Model A" then, which was powered by a sail. It was a far cry from Henry Ford's model of the same name in later years.

The sail frightened horses and police banned it.
The youthful inventors then came up with "Model B" equipped with a 4-horsepower engine and a unique direct drive. It could only be stopped by turning off the gas and hoping for the best.

Did 35 MPH
"Model C" the present surviving vehicle came next. It is an open and according to Halsey was capable of 35 miles an hour in its heyday.
A fourth car—"Model D" of course

WAS BUILT A YEAR LATER AND LASTED FOUR YEARS. IT UNFORTUNATELY MET HEADON WITH A HUGE NEWFOUNDLAND DOG ONE DAY AND WAS NEVER THE SAME.

In the renovation, the men had tires custom made for the buckboard. Wood to restore the chassis was shipped down from Hartwood, N. Y., where Judge Dumock has a home.

Under the tiny hood in front is a battery, about one quarter the size of the modern batteries Halsey now sells.

No Brakes

In the center of the steering wheel is a metal handle to regulate the speed. The car has no lights or brakes. An operating bar on top of the hood takes the place of a gear shift and a leather belt serves as a clutch.

There is one thing under the hood, which Judge Dumock calls "the most important piece of equipment we have."

It is a fire extinguisher.

GREEK FOOD HAS OWN FLAVOR

ATHENS (AP)—Americans like Greek food—but easy on the olive oil and garlic, please!

Old, staple food diet of the Greeks since the days of Pericles 2,500 years ago, find the way into almost anything and everything here, from salad to dessert.

The American housewife looking here for something to prepare at home in the way of a Greek menu looks at the liberal quantities of olive oil prescribed in the recipes and quickly tries to figure some way of getting around it.

It can be done. But not with American style butter, which the housewife uses in her cooking back in the United States. The best substitutes are vegetable oil and margarine-type shortenings. The Greeks frown on these.

Yanks Like Food
Transplanted Americans here—whose numbers have run as high as 4,000 at a single time during the past six years of American economic and military aid administration in this country—generally have developed a fondness for the Greek cuisine, although professional cooks don't regard it as Greek. Like everything else in this country, it is a mélange of East and West—the spices of the Orient coupled with the sauces of Italy and France.

High on the list of culinary hurdles to be overcome is the system of official weights and measures used in Greece. Meat isn't sold by the pound. It's priced by the unit of weight known as the "one." The one comes to exactly 2.87 pounds. Milk and vegetables are also sold the same way, as well as by the kilogram, which comes to 2.2 pounds.

Meat Not Good
The quality of meat in Greece has never been good. Best standards here fall far below those in the U. S. and this accounts for relatively little use of steaks and roasts of the local market. Roast lamb, however, is the most popular national dish, and increasing numbers of Americans have taken to the traditional Greek lamb barbecue. Here again seasoning is used with a light hand, and the American housewife's problem is to manage without the garlic and spices and at the same time turn out a tasty dish.

Since Greeks cook for bigger families than their counterparts in the U. S. (the birth rate is considerably higher here) the local

The diseases are coccidioidomycosis and histoplasmosis, fungus diseases of the lungs sometimes mistaken for tuberculosis.

U. S. Public Health Service officers and members of the Bell County Health Unit staff are testing school children in the Fort Hood area for presence of the diseases. The State Health Department and Bell County Tuberculosis Association are cooperating.

"Three fungus (causing the diseases) are soil-born organisms," Dr. Harry Frey explained, "and the huge dust clouds caused by tank maneuvers can reasonably be expected to drift over the area, bearing the diseases."

Pyeon piled up a running series of denunciations against India in the Political Committee, accusing her of "appeasement to the Communist aggressors . . . treachery of the first magnitude . . . constantly hatching at the tree of freedom to please the enemy of freedom."

"India has done nothing but disservice to the cause of human freedom by pandering to the interests of the enemy of freedom," he charged.

He also assailed Prime Minister Nehru's government for its support of the recent installation of a pro-Indian government in Kashmir, declaring:

"From the knowledge of how India has been behaving in Kashmir, my delegation gravely doubts whether India will live up to the high moral standard it seems to expect the Republic of Korea to practice."

ments have to be trimmed down substantially to fit an American family of three or four persons. Practically all Greek menus are made up with a view to giving anywhere from eight to 12 servings.

This doesn't mean that the families are always that big. The people who prepare the recipes probably took into consideration the traditionally hospitable Greek who always likes to have a few friends and relatives around him when he eats.

NORFOLK Island, with its romantic history tied in with the famed Mutiny on the Bounty, seems almost legendary at times. But the little island 800 miles east of Australia in the South Pacific is indeed a reality, as many stamp collectors know. On June 10 the Territory of Norfolk Island issued six new postage stamps.

The island's first stamps were issued on June 10, 1947, in 12 values of uniform design.

The new stamps depict various historic sites. The 3½ pence dark red shows the Warder's Tower. The 6 pence green illustrates the airfield. The 7½ pence blue pictures the first governor's residence. The 8 pence red brown depicts the Barracks entrance. The 10 pence mauve reveals St. House. The 5 shillings chocolate displays "Bloody Bridge."

Norfolk Island was discovered in 1774 by the noted explorer Captain Cook and was used mainly as a penal colony for many years. In 1856 the island ceased being a prison and the descendants of the mutineers on the Bounty were transferred to Norfolk from Pitcairn.

ECUADOR has issued an interesting set of six stamps reports the New York Stamp Co. The set is for the literacy campaign being extended throughout that country. The 5 centavos blue green shows a teacher giving lessons to a pair of boys. The 10 centavos red depicts a teacher instructing an Indian. The 20 centavos brown shows voters at the ballot box. The 30 centavos magenta shows a teacher and pupils at a blackboard. The 1 sure blue armal reveals a hand holding a torch. The 2 orange armal illustrates an old man showing an Indian how to read.

A PHILATELIC world exhibition will be held in the Lulevalch art gallery in Stockholm in the summer of 1955. It will be held in connection with the centennial printing of the first Swedish stamps. The exhibition will be arranged by the General Post Office in collaboration with the Swedish Philatelic Society.

A NEW definitive series has been issued by New Hebrides in both English and French. The values, colors and designs are the same for each except that one group is in English and the other in French. The vignettes portray local scenes.

AUSTRALIA's coronation stamps will be double the size of the current 3½ pence King George VI

FAMILY TRADITION

CANSON, N. S. (AP)—James E. Tate here carried on the blacksmith business which his family has been operating for almost 100 years. His grandfather started the smithy in 1859 and his father conducted it before James took over.

Want to know how many frankfurters to count on when you buy a pound of them? If the frankfurters are large size, you'll get seven to nine; if they're a smaller size you'll get ten to twelve.

The new size was adopted to facilitate production. A portrait of Queen Elizabeth appears at the right of the left, superimposed on the outline of the Crown, is an inscription reading: Coronation of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth The Second 2 June, 1953. The denomination is at the lower left corner.

INDIA has made a substantial profit from the sale of special commemorative stamps. Deputy Communications Minister Raj Banarjee reported to Parliament. Between August, 1949 and March, 1953, the government produced 3,021,000,000 such stamps which sold for 620,000,000 rupees ($109,200,000). These included the Mahatma Gandhi stamps, the archaeological series, and the saints and saint-poet series.

Pyun piled up a running series of denunciations against India in the Political Committee, accusing her of "appeasement to the Communist aggressors . . . treachery of the first magnitude . . . constantly hatching at the tree of freedom to please the enemy of freedom."

"India has done nothing but disservice to the cause of human freedom by pandering to the interests of the enemy of freedom," he charged.

He also assailed Prime Minister Nehru's government for its support of the recent installation of a pro-Indian government in Kashmir, declaring:

"From the knowledge of how India has been behaving in Kashmir, my delegation gravely doubts whether India will live up to the high moral standard it seems to expect the Republic of Korea to practice."

Practically all Greek menus are made up with a view to giving anywhere from eight to 12 servings.

This doesn't mean that the families are always that big. The people who prepare the recipes probably took into consideration the traditionally hospitable Greek who always likes to have a few friends and relatives around him when he eats.

Stamp News

By SYD KRONISH
The Associated Press

NORFOLK Island, with its romantic history tied in with the famed Mutiny on the Bounty, seems almost legendary at times. But the little island 800 miles east of Australia in the South Pacific is indeed a reality, as many stamp collectors know. On June 10 the Territory of Norfolk Island issued six new postage stamps.

The island's first stamps were issued on June 10, 1947, in 12 values of uniform design.

The new stamps depict various historic sites. The 3½ pence dark red shows the Warder's Tower. The 6½ p drab green illustrates the airfield. The 7½ p bright blue pictures the first governor's residence. The 8½ p red brown depicts the Barracks entrance. The 10 p mauve reveals Salt House. The 5 shillings chocolate displays "Bloody Bridge."

Norfolk Island was discovered in 1774 by the noted explorer Capt. Cook and was used mainly as a penal colony for many years. In 1856 the island ceased being a prison and the descendants of the mutineers on the Bounty were transferred to Norfolk from Pitcairn.

ECUADOR has issued an interesting set of six stamps reports the New York Stamp Co. The set is for the literacy campaign being extended throughout that country. The 5 centavos blue green shows a teacher giving lessons to a pair of boys. The 10 c red pictures a teacher instructing an Indian. The 20 c brown depicts voters at the ballot box. The 30 c magenta shows a teacher and pupils at a blackboard. The 1 sucre blue airmail reveals a hand holding a torch. The 2 s orange airmail illustrates an old man showing an Indian how to read.

A PHILATELIC world exhibition will be held in the Liljevalch art gallery in Stockholm in the summer of 1955. It will be held in connection with the centennial printing of the first Swedish stamps. The exhibition will be arranged by the General Post Office in collaboration with the Swedish Philatelic Society.

A NEW definitive series has been issued by New Hebrides in both English and French. The values, colors and designs are the same for each except that one group is in English and the other in French. The vignettes portray local scenes.

AUSTRALIA's coronation stamps will be double the size of the current 3½ pence King George VI

FAMILY TRADITION

CANSO, N. S. (P)—James E. Tate here carried on the blacksmith business which his family has been operating for almost 100 years. His grandfather started the smithy in 1859 and his father conducted it before James took over.

stamp. The new size was adopted to facilitate production. A portrait of Queen Elizabeth appears at the right. At the left, superimposed on the outline of the Crown, is an inscription reading: "Coronation of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth The Second 2 June, 1953." The denomination is at the lower left corner.

INDIA has made a substantial profit from the sale of special commemorative stamps. Deputy Communications Minister Raj Bahadur reported to Parliament. Between August, 1949, and March, 1953, the government produced 3,021,000,000 such stamps which sold for 620,000,000 rupees ($130,200,000). These included the Mahatma Gandhi stamps, the archaeological series, and the saints and saint-poet series.

PREMIER PELLA GIVEN 100-VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

ROME (AP)—Italy took a vacation from political crisis today with its new government firmly — but temporarily — backed by both houses of Parliament. The regime is pledged to do nothing about such controversial questions as European unity, the European army and land redistribution.

Premier Giuseppe Pella, a Christian Democrat financial expert and a steady friend of the West, won a confidence vote in the Chamber of Deputies last night by 100 votes.

Previously he had won a decisive victory in the Senate.

With this hurdle safely passed, the 51-year-old Pella went to work to give Italy what he described as a "business" government, and the Chamber of Deputies began a month's vacation.

For the rest of the summer, at any rate, it appeared the nation might enjoy a semblance of political calm.

"Temporary Government"

Pella won the deputies' backing by emphasizing his was only a temporary government, pledged not to bring up any major policy questions. He said he stepped into the breach caused by the downfall of former Premier Alcide De Gasperi's eighth Cabinet only to deal with a new budget passed and to deal with other urgent administrative affairs.

The Chamber backed the Pella Cabinet last night 315-215 with 44 deputies abstaining. Three center parties, the Christian Democrats, Liberals and Republicans, and the right-wing Monarchists supported it, while the Communists and the pro-Moscow left-wing Socialists opposed.

Members of the neo-Fascist Italian Social Movement (MSI) and the Democratic Socialists abstained.

During a normal year, about six million enterprises in the United States hire labor at some time.

Identify More Yanks Who Died In Camp

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department made public today the names of 20 more American servicemen of the 1,022 reported by the Communists to have died in Far Eastern prison camps.

Earlier lists contained 837 names leaving 165 to be named. In every announcement about the prisoners, the Pentagon has emphasized the absence of independent confirmation of the Communist reports.

All of the 20 on the new list are Army personnel and included three Pennsylvanians: Sgt. I. C. Harvey H. Smoak, husband of Mrs. Ruby M. Smoak, Fairfax; Cpl. John Bogert Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bogert Sr., 478 Dana St., Wilkes-Barre; and Pfc. James E. Williams, son of Mrs. Hilda Williams, Route 1, Hopewell.

PHIL MURRAY'S WIDOW INJURED IN CAR CRASH

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—The widow and sister of the late CIO president, Philip Murray, are in serious condition today with injuries suffered after their auto crashed and caught fire near this Southwestern Pennsylvania community.

Murray's widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Murray, 58; his sister, Mrs. Mary Thompson, 68, of Cannonsburg, Pa.; and Mrs. Marie Block, 53, of Pittsburgh, were hurt when their auto swerved off a highway 10 miles west of here, plunged down an embankment and burned.

Motorists pulled the women from the wreckage before the flames could touch them.

Injuries Severe

Mrs. Murray suffered a severe cut on the forehead, fractures of both arms and a broken ankle.

Mrs. Thompson sustained a broken hip, head injuries and shock.

Mrs. Block suffered internal injuries and face cuts. She and Mrs. Murray are in a Washington hospital.

Lost Control

State police said the women were riding in a rented car and that the driver, not immediately identified, apparently lost control while trying to pass another auto.

Murray, president of the CIO and the United Steelworkers of America, died of a heart attack in San Francisco last November.

STATE PLOWING CONTEST OPENS

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP)—Farmer Clarence William of Nazareth put his title at stake today as farmers lined up behind horse drawn plows for the opening of the second annual Pennsylvania Plowing Contest.

Spectators flocked to Paul I. Detweiler's farm to watch the contestants cut furrows across both level and hilly fields with two kinds of plows.

Men from a six-county area, made up of Bedford, Blair, Cambria, Clearfield, Centre and Huntingdon Counties, completed today for a regional title. The state final will be held Thursday.

As the plowers head across the field, judges keep a close eye on such things as equipment adjustment and the straightness and uniformity of depth of the furrow. Speed is not a factor.

There are four types of plowing in the contest—on level land with a mold board plow, on contour land with a mold board plow, on level land with a disc plow and on

STENOGRAPHER BEING SOUGHT IN GIRL'S DEATH

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP)—A 25-year-old "very pretty" stenographer was sought today for questioning in the slaying of 14-year-old Mary Di Rocco, whose bullet-punctured, slashed and partially burned body was found in the cellar of her home yesterday.

Police identified the girl they are seeking as Miss Mildred McDonald, an employee of the State Unemployment Compensation Division.

They said she kept company with Joseph Di Rocco, 25, the victim's brother, for about three years until he married another girl last April.

Medical Examiner Andrew D. Guthrie said five slugs from a .22-calibre target pistol entered the Di Rocco girl's body—in the heart, the head, jaw, abdomen and left wrist.

Throat Is Slashed

In addition, he said, there was a slash on the girl's throat as if made by a razor or a sharp knife.

Heavy motor oil had been poured over the girl's body and newspapers and a magazine, placed around it, had been set ablaze.

Police said the motor oil did not catch fire because it burns only under extreme high temperature.

The burning papers caused only a slight scorch on the girl's side before the fire was extinguished by Robert Di Rocco, 17, another of the victim's brothers, who was attracted to the cellar by the smell of smoke when he arrived home.

Robert said he passed Miss McDonald on his front steps and chatted a few minutes before he entered his family's modest two-family house.

He said she was just leaving the house and appeared calm as she strode away.

Ordered To Leave

Angelo Di Rocco, the slain girl's father, said he went home to lunch and found Miss McDonald there with his daughter. He told police he asked Miss McDonald what she was doing there and said she replied: "I just came over for a while."

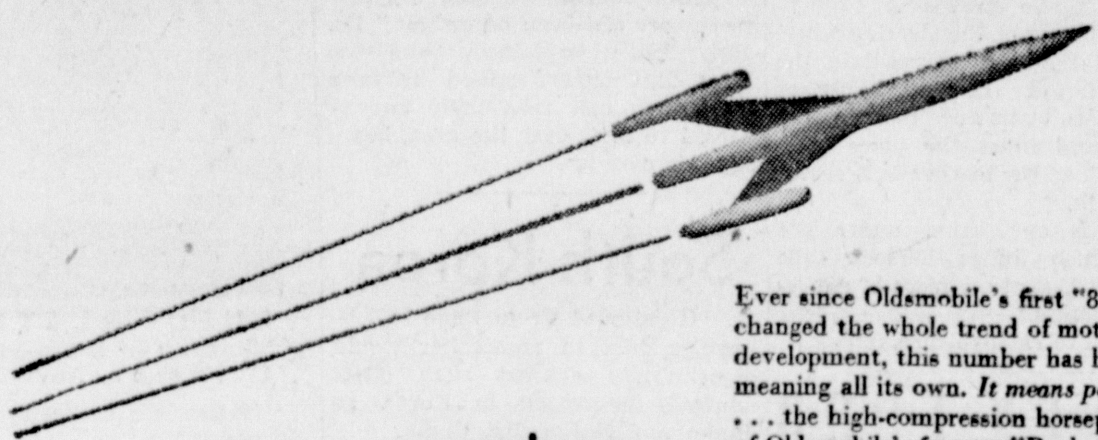

The father said he advised her to leave and that she answered: "I'll go after I have another cigarette."

He said he left to return to his job as a truck driver after having a sandwich. He said his wife was out shopping at the time. A police check showed Miss McDonald left her job two hours before she was seen in the Di Rocco home. She had told her superior she was not feeling well. Her father is a teacher at the Northeastern Junior High School.

RETAILERS ARE TOLD HOW TO COLLECT TAX

HARRISBURG (AP)—With retailers due to begin collection of the 1.32 1 per cent sales tax a week from today the State Revenue Department has set about acquainting store owners with its various provisions.

The first in a series of informative conferences around the state was held yesterday in Reading. Another comes off today here and others are set up for later in the week at Philadelphia, Erie, Scranton and Allentown.

Meanwhile, the department's new Sales Tax Bureau said that between 125,000 and 130,000 of some 189,000 application forms mailed to retailers have already been returned. The law requires each retailer to register and display a registration certificate.

But the department has previously indicated it will not clamp down immediately on sellers who fail to register by the deadline.

Some Doubts About Chinese Oil Yield

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Chinese Communists say they now have an "abundance" of petroleum in China, but give no production totals. The Peiping radio, in a broadcast heard by the Associated Press in San Francisco, said the present output of crude oil was 12 per cent above the highest pre-war levels; gasoline was up 231 per cent and kerosene 687 per cent.

The figures, however, mean little because China's pre-war petroleum output was limited mainly to Kansu province and production there was not large. (Only 13 wells were reported in operation in 1944, no production figures were given because of the war with Japan.)

The complicated law are expected from the printer before the end of this week. They will be distributed to county offices of inheritance tax collectors and revenue department branch offices. Chambers of commerce wishing copies can get them by asking.

The new tax does not apply to sales under 11 cents or to food and clothing in general. Hundreds of other items are specifically exempted.

15 PENNSY MEN ARE RELEASED FROM POW CAMPS

By The Associated Press
Fifteen Pennsylvanians—the largest number in the 21 days of the POW exchange—were released today at Freedom Village.

In the group of 150 American repatriated were men from the Keystone State:

Pvt. Neil C. Auman, Spring Mills; Pfc. Arthur L. Kaiser, Mercersburg; Pfc. Gene C. Salay, Bethlehem; Pfc. William Parsh, Fairview; 2nd Lt. Patsy Millantoni, Philadelphia; Cpl. George R. Taylor, Stevensville; Pfc. Charles I. Fahnestock, Chambersburg; Cpl. Fred C. Seales, Wilkes-Barre; Cpl. Walter J. Bolinsky, Bloomsburg; Cpl. John T. Crespo, Wampum; Cpl. Stephen A. Rada, Branchdale; Cpl. Albert Mickelberg, Philadelphia; Cpl. Eugene P. Talton, Braddock; Cpl. James T. Conley, Erie; Pfc. Timothy Reza Jr., McKeessport.

Kneels In Prayer
In Bethlehem, when Mrs. Alex Salay, mother of Pvt. Salay, heard the news last night, she went out on the front porch of her home, knelt down, and quietly expressed her gratitude in prayer.

The news of the 21-year-old GI's release was the first word his family had that he was a prisoner since he was reported missing July 14, less than two weeks before the signing of the armistice.

Salay's release was also a special kind of birthday present for one of his three sisters. The oldest sister, Marguerite, was 20 yesterday.

In Washington County, four little children ran a half mile to tell their grandmother, Mrs. Mary Parish, that her son, Pvt. Parish, had been released. The GI is the children's uncle.

Parish had been a prisoner since July 17. The children heard the news at their own home when a neighbor called their father, Stephen Parish, a brother of the soldier.

Note Of Sadness
There was a note of sadness, however, in the Mercersburg home of Mrs. Corinne Taylor, an aunt of Pvt. Kaiser. She said the 21-year-old soldier does not know his father, Boyd L. Kaiser, died a month ago.

"We didn't write when his father passed away," Mrs. Taylor explained. "We have been waiting to hear he had been released, but we hadn't heard anything definite until now."

Kaiser has been in the Army about three years. He was captured in November, 1951, a few weeks after reaching Korea.

RIDGEWAY IN CARLISLE
CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—Gen. Matthew D. Ridgway, Army chief of staff, yesterday delivered the opening address at the new term at the college at the Carlisle barracks here. He left after speaking.

He arrived by plane from Washington at nearby New Kingston where he was met by Maj. Gen. James E. Moore, commandant of the college at the Carlisle barracks here. He left after speaking.

Of course he gets the very best of medical attention

But when the expense of illness threatens to upset the budget, the most sensible course may be to finance doctors' and hospital bills, with one low-cost Personal Loan here. We always try to arrange repayment terms suited to the borrower's income.

15 PENNSY MEN ARE RELEASED FROM POW CAMPS

By The Associated Press
Fifteen Pennsylvanians—the largest number in the 21 days of the POW exchange—were released today at Freedom Village.

In the group of 150 American repatriated were these men from the Keystone State:

Pvt. Neil C. Auman, Spring Mills; Pfc. Arthur L. Kaiser, Mercersburg; Pfc. Gene C. Salay, Bethlehem; Pfc. William Parish, Finleyville; 2nd Lt. Patsy Milantoni, Philadelphia; Cpl. George R. Taylor, Stevensville; Pfc. Charles I. Fahnestock, Chambersburg; Cpl. Fred C. Searles, Wilkes-Barre; Cpl. Walter J. Bolinsky, Bloomsburg; Cpl. John T. Crespo, Wampum; Cpl. Stephen A. Rada, Branchdale; Cpl. Albert Mickelberg, Philadelphia; Cpl. Eugene P. Tallon, Braddock; Cpl. James T. Conley, Etna; Pfc. Timothy Reza Jr., McKeesport.

Kneels In Prayer
In Bethlehem, when Mrs. Alex Salay, mother of Pvt. Salay, heard the news last night, she went out on the front porch of her home, knelt down, and quietly expressed her gratitude in prayer.

The news of the 21-year-old GI's release was the first word his family had that he was a prisoner since he was reported missing July 14, less than two weeks before the signing of the armistice.

Salay's release was also a special kind of birthday present for one of his three sisters. The oldest sister, Marguerite, was 20 yesterday.

In Washington County, four little children ran a half mile to tell their grandmother, Mrs. Mary Parish, that her son, Pvt. Parish, had been released. The GI is the children's uncle.

Parish had been a prisoner since July 17. The children heard the news at their own home when a neighbor called their father, Stephen Parish, a brother of the soldier.

Note Of Sadness
There was a note of sadness, however, in the Mercersburg home of Mrs. Corrine Taylor, an aunt of Pvt. Kaiser. She said the 21-year-old soldier does not know his father, Boyd E. Kaiser, died a month ago.

"We didn't write when his father passed away," Mrs. Taylor explained. "We have been waiting to hear he had been released, but we hadn't heard anything definite until now."

Kaiser has been in the Army about three years. He was captured in November, 1951, a few weeks after reaching Korea.

Want an easy and different dessert? Serve plums with cheese and crackers. Good!

The Mt. Joy Sunday School will hold their annual picnic in Benner's Grove, Saturday, August 29. Chicken and ham supper will be served. Start serving at 4:00 p.m. in the Parish House adjoining the grove. Music by the Gettysburg High School band. Refreshments of all kinds on sale. Everybody welcome.

RIDGEWAY IN CARLISLE
CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Army chief of staff, yesterday delivered the opening address at the new term at the Army War College.

He arrived by plane from Washington at nearby New Kingston where he was met by Maj. Gen. James E. Moore, commandant of the college at the Carlisle barracks here. He left after speaking.

Of course he gets the very best of medical attention

But when the expense of illness threatens to upset the budget, the most sensible course may be to finance doctors' and hospital bills, with one low-cost Personal Loan here. We always try to arrange repayment terms suited to the borrower's income.
